DEMOCRATS TO SET LATE CLOSING DATE

Various changes in Georgia's 84-member delegation to the democratic national convention to cast 24 votes for President Roosevelt were made last night on the eve of presentation to the state democratic executive committee.

The committee, appointed by Governor Talmadge, anti-New Deal democrat, meets at 11 o'clock this morning on the roof of the Ansley hotel to approve the delegation and to fix the closing date for entries in the September 9 primary.

Throughout the day the office of Marion H. Allen, Georgia campaign manager for Mr. Roosevelt, canvassed the list of the delegation furnished by the President to ascertain those who are certain to attend the Philadelphia gathering next week.

Party Rules.
The party rules give Chairman Howell, of the committee, the right to appoint members of the delegation in the event of vacancies. In checking the delegate list as announced from Washington Monday night, Allen was seeking to make sure all those selected by the Roosevelt organization would be present.

It was disclosed by a source close to the state committee that the date of closing of entries in state races will be July 6. This would give Governor Talmadge the advantage of not being forced to announce his future plans prior to his big meeting at Mc-Cleskeyville July 4.

There is another important political meeting in Atlanta today. Albert Hardy, of Gainesville, heads the Georgia Roosevelt nominators who will assemble to launch a drive for $100,000 from this state for the party's campaign fund.

Welner Meeting.
Tomorrow at Macon there will be meeting of the group headed by former Chancellor Philip Welner, of

Indiana Democrats Name M. C. Townsend

INDIANAPOLIS, June 16.—(AP)— Indiana democrats in state convention today nominated M. Clifford Townsend, of Marion, the present lieutenant governor, as their candidate for governor next November.
Townsend's nomination came on the first ballot. Before the roll call was completed Townsend's two opponents, Clark McKinney, Indianapolis real-estate dealer, and Pless Greenleaf, former secretary to Governor Paul V.
McNutt, withdrew and moved that Townsend be declared nominated by acclamation.

Homer C. Parker Replaces Carreker as Comptroller

Talmadge-Appointed Official Is Given Post on Revenue Commission.

Governor Talmadge yesterday appointed former Congressman Homer C.
Parker, of Statesboro, comptroller general to succeed G. B. Carreker, who became a member of the state revenue commission. The action was forecast in The Constitution yesterday morning.

The change in the Governor's official family followed the death of Paul H. Doyal, of Rome. Doyal, fatally injured in an automobile accident, had been a member of the revenue commission since 1931.

Third Man in Year.
Parker became the third man to hold the comptroller general's office this year. Talmadge formerly removed William B. Harrison from the office when Harrison refused to go along with the Governor's one-man control of state finances.

Carreker, then a member of the state auditing department, was named comptroller general in opposition to Harrison's general in Harrison's stead.

Carreker still chairman.
Carreker retains his position as chairman of the revenue commission, which is composed of two commissioners and the comptroller general.
Carreker became chairman when Doyal resigned.

HOMER C. PARKER.

signed that position during litigation over the Talmadge "dictatorship."
Parker was adjutant general of Georgia from 1927 until 1931. He was comptroller general in 1930. In the primary of that year he tied with Harrison in county votes with 186 each. The state convention nominated Harrison.

In 1931 Parker was appointed congressman from the first Georgia district succeeding the late Charles Edward Clegg.

COUGHLIN, SMITH MAY LEAD PARTY

Townsend's Aid Seen as Group Plans Attack on Democrats and G. O. P.

NEW YORK, June 16.—(UP)— Threat of a third-party movement which would bring under one banner the forces of Charles E. Coughlin, the Rev. Gerald L. K. Smith and Dr. Francis Townsend, arose tonight to plague both democrats and republicans.

Coughlin announced here he was ready to support a mysterious third-party leader who could "engage the interest of 25,000,000 voters," provided this man announced a platform suitable to the priest's National Union for Social Justice. The decision will be made before Friday, Coughlin said.

Also Coughlin could finish his pre-conference here, Smith, heir to much of P. Long's "wealth," was saying almost the same thing in Chicago. His version of it was that the third party leader would make himself known within 12 days and that Coughlin, Townsend and the Long forces would unite behind him.

Coughlin evaded all attempts to smoke him out on the identity of his leader.

18 Pct. Gain Shown In Tax Collections

WASHINGTON, June 16.—(AP)—
President Roosevelt's budget expectations of $1,434,000,000 in income tax revenue during the current fiscal year was virtually realized tonight when the treasury reported collection of $276,933,610 for the first 15 days of June.

This amount, the treasury said, was slightly more than 18 per cent in excess of the amount collected during the comparable period last year. Second quarterly installments of income taxes must be paid on or before June 15.

VETERANS UNLOAD NEW BONUS BONDS

Postoffices Here Stormed as Recipients Seek Cash, Let Interest Go.

Georgia veterans of the World War who responded 90 per cent to the bonus roll call, displayed further signs of alacrity yesterday as they filled the corridors of the buildings where they were to transfer the $50 "baby" bonus certificates for cashable checks.

From early morning until late in the afternoon, the specially arranged tables were filled in the corridors of the 13 points over Atlanta where the promise-to-cash transactions could be made.

As the veterans moved in to swear to their identity, anxious wives stood embarrassed in the background.

Special Clerks Used.
Special clerks occupied the tables, helping veterans to translate their bonds into cash.

Friendly members of the postoffice department stood in the background offering their help to any veteran who needed to identify himself. A veteran who did not know one of the available postoffice clerks was a veteran who knew few people in Atlanta.
This postoffice, however, under the supervision of Postmaster Lon Livingston, helped to a 100 per cent standard.

Veterans who looked blankly around with no one to identify them merely went to whisper the name of someone they knew and postoffice aids scurried over the city in quest of the necessary identification.

At the old postoffice building on Forsyth street, long known to residents of Atlanta as the old postoffice building, identifying help was plentiful. It was the same story over the other 12 stations. The lines moved briskly. Few veterans, knowing the rules, tried to offer themselves and their bonds without proper identification.

The offices worked at fever heat throughout the blistering day and night.

SHORT CAMPAIGN FOR PARTY FUNDS MAPPED BY HARDY

State-Wide Conference Will Be Held Here Today To Draw Plans for Drive To Secure $100,000

Plans for a vigorous and short campaign to push the drive for Georgia's $100,000 contribution to the national democratic campaign will be mapped at a state-wide meeting of 150 leading Georgia democrats at 10:30 o'clock this morning at the Henry Grady hotel.

The fifth district committee in charge of operations in Fulton, De-Kalb and Rockdale counties conferred briefly yesterday and mapped a preliminary program. Another conference will be held before the state convention this morning in order to complete the program.

Albert S. Hardy, of Gainesville, general chairman, yesterday attended the conference, and said the state is looking to the fifth Georgia congressional district to blaze the path. He expressed confidence that Mrs. Z. V.
Peterson and Jere A. Wells, district chairman, assisted by Senator G. Everett Millican, Scott Chandler and former Senator Clarence Vaughan, of Conyers, chairman respectively of Fulton, DeKalb and Rockdale counties, will set an example for the remainder of the state to strive towards.

Vice Chairmen Attend.
Hardy was backed in his assertions
by Bentley H. Chappel, of Columbus, and Charles J. Bloch, of Macon, vice chairmen of the state drive, who also attended the fifth district organization conference.

Mrs. J. A. Rollison, of Waycross, also a vice chairman, did not attend
the preliminary sessions yesterday.

DECISION NARROWS GOVERNOR'S RACE

Nix Refusal Leaves Only
Two in Field Outside of Talmadgeite Entrant.

Decision of Abit Nix, grand master of Georgia Masons and a prominent figure in political circles, not to enter the gubernatorial contest this fall narrowed down the list of leading candidates to two with an additional prospect that Governor Talmadge himself may be an aspirant, or in the vent he is Russell's senate seat, that a Talmadge-championed protégé will qualify.

E. D. Rivers, of Lakeland, speaker of the Georgia house of representatives, and Judge W. W. Larsen, of Dublin, a former member of the United States congress, are the two outstanding contenders, according to observers.
C. O. Trammell, who lives in Meri-weather county, near Chieley, also has officially announced his candidacy.

Marion Allen, Georgia campaign manager for the Roosevelt forces in this state, said the return to prosperity which we expect will bring back a healthy budget.

"Mr. Roosevelt tried an experiment yesterday morning, one of the few clues was a large footprint in the soft dirt."

MUSSOLINI SEEKS GERMAN ALLIANCE TO BALANCE POWER

New Central European Understanding May Reach From North Sea
to Sicily; Note Is Sent.

ROME, June 16.—(AP)—Italy, from sources close to Premier Benito Mussolini, sounded a strong note of friendship for Germany today.

While the reich's ambassador, Ulrich Von Hassell, was arriving to acquaint Il Duce with details of his recent conversations with Adolf Hitler, Virginia Gayda asserted Germany, throughout the Ethiopian war, "manifested sincerity and political friendship for Italy."

Gayda, editor of Il Giornale D'Italia, is fascism's most authoritative newspaper commentator.
Usually well informed sources predicted an Italo-German economic conference in Rome would be held shortly. Danubian accords may be considered, they said.

Diplomatic Move.
Some diplomatic observers saw in the leaning toward Germany a move to force France to follow Britain's excellent trend toward the lifting of sanctions.

Others, however, considered it a part of frequent Italo-German conversations leading to a possible central European lineup in case Italy leaves the League of Nations.

It was reported, however, no definite agreement had been reached.
Gayda said Italy "takes full note" of Germany's "free and realistic attitude" toward efforts of the sanction-ist bloc.

BLUM UNDER FIRE IN SENATE ATTACK

"Nobody Wants Devaluation," He Says in Clash
With Ex-Cabinet Officer

PARIS, June 16.—(AP)—Noisy criticism of Leon Blum's leftist program for social-economic changes upset the senate of France today.

The dispute, which resulted in temporary suspension of the usually sedate body, came when Premier Blum mentioned President Roosevelt's "experiment" in the United States.

Joseph Caillaux, former finance minister, who has come out for devaluation of the franc, jumped up for a dispute with Blum. The voices of other senators drowned them out.

Later, replying to the senate criticism, Blum appealed for confidence.
He asked the senate to "consider the expectations and hopes which have been placed on the laws we ask you to vote."

"Nobody wants devaluation," including the finance committee he added. "The return to prosperity which we expect will bring back a healthy budget."

James L. Wells Announces For Mayor, Opposing Key

Former Member of City Council Is First To Enter Race.

James Leech Wells, who served as a member of city council for seven years, president of the Sloan Paper company and one of Atlanta's leading businessmen, yesterday formally announced his candidacy for the mayoral nomination, subject to the municipal primary, September 2.

The Wells announcement is the first formal entry for the mayor's post, and it is expected that he will be opposed by Mayor Key, who has held the office longer than any other man in the history of the city.

"I shall conduct an active campaign for the position," Wells said yesterday. "I believe Atlanta wants an Atlanta businessman for mayor. It is my desire to be of service to the people of this city, where I have made my home since 1908, and which I love. I shall make a further statement of my views within the next few days."

Friends Urged Candidacy.
"For several weeks, my friends have urged me to become a candidate, and I have decided to do so. I wrote Mayor Key a letter today apprising him of my intentions."

The Wells announcement of his candidacy was the shortest in local political history. He addressed a communication to The Constitution, which read as follows:

"Please accept this letter as a formal announcement of my candidacy for mayor of the city of Atlanta in the coming election."

There was no further statement and

PLAN TO REPLACE INVALIDATED ACT IS SENT TO SENATE

'Compromise' Revenue Legislation Is Expected To Carry Sharply Lower Rates Than Previously Approved by the Senate.

NEW WORK BILL NEARER PASSAGE

Measure Will Impose Wage and Hour Restrictions as Well as Prohibit Sweat Shops.

WASHINGTON, June 16.—(AP)—
Working toward adjournment by Saturday, the house late today passed the Guffey-Vinson coal control bill designed to replace the act recently invalidated by the supreme court.

On a standing vote of 161 to 90, the measure which seeks stabilization of the coal industry through price-fixing, chiefly, was sent to the senate.

Another obstacle in the stretch drive for adjournment was shoved aside today with the almost complete conference agreement on the $2,370,000,000 relief-deficiency appropriation bill.

Tax bill conferees swung toward a speedy agreement on that measure and called a night session with a revised corporation tax proposal advanced by senate democrats prompting talk of a compromise by tomorrow.
However, after a hours the conference adjourned without reaching an agreement.

Contract Bill.
At the same time, the Walsh-Healy government contract bill, one of the session's major pieces of labor legislation, progressed another step toward enactment with approval of the house rules committee.

The senate-approved measure, as amended by the house judiciary committee, would require employers to establish a 40-hour week and eight-hour day and pay prevailing wages to workers producing materials bought by the government that cost more than $10,000.

Although the legislative situation was definitely clearing up, President Roosevelt canceled plans to go to New London, Conn., Friday to watch the Yale-Harvard boat race.

There have been some intimations that the tax bill conferees might wish to discuss the measure with him again. But there were no indications of a special White House conference on the legislation. Some

SUICIDE IS LINKED TO JERSEY KILLING

Description of Suspect in Slaying of Moore Tallies
With That of 'Thin Man'

EAST ORANGE, N. J., June 16.— (UP)—Police Chief C. N. Dell tonight announced that 22 caliber cartridges found on Jean Philip Gerhardt, unemployed electrician, who shot himself to death today, were similar to the exploded shell found near the body of Daniel McFarland Moore, murdered inventor.

Gerhardt, 35, of Staten Island, killed himself just after Police Chief Earl Hoyer, of Middletown township, approached his automobile in a patch of woods in Middletown.

East Orange police immediately turned their investigation on Gerhardt, whose description tallied with that of a "tall-thin" man who called on Moore, friend of the late Thomas A.
Edison, the night before he was shot on the lawn of his home.

Cartridges Similar.
Detective Earl McIntire was sent to Middletown this afternoon and reported to Dell the cartridges were similar.
He said he was returning with a photograph which will be shown to Beatrice Moore, 25, the inventor's daughter, who is believed to have been in the house on the eve of the slaying.
Miss Moore told police the caller was about 35 years old, 6 feet tall, weighing 180 pounds, had a light complexion, brown hair and blue eyes
and "wore big shoes."

August Gerhardt, father of the suicide, said his son was 6 feet 2 inches tall, weighing 180 pounds, had a light
complexion, brown hair and blue eyes
and "wore big shoes."

When Moore's body was found behind the garage of his fashionable home yesterday morning, one of the few clues was a large footprint in the soft dirt.

INSURANCE CLAIM OF MILL ATTACKED

Suit Filed at Gainesville Alleges Textile Company Violated State Law.

GAINESVILLE, Ga., June 16.—
Alleging that the Pacolet Manufacturing Corporation here accepted insurance with companies not admitted in Georgia, suit for $150,000, or 10 per cent of the corporation's alleged loss of $1,500,000 in the tornado of April 6, was filed by Sydney Weiss in Hall county superior court today.

Weiss, who took action as a private citizen, alleges that the Georgia legislature in 1935 passed an act which penalizes all firms placing insurance with companies outside of the state which are not qualified with the insurance commissioner to do business in Georgia and awards half the penalty to the insurer.

By placing insurance with non-admitted companies, Weiss alleges the corporation is subject to a penalty of 10 per cent of the total claims collected from these companies. The penalty, the petition charges, is provided for in the act known as the "agent's qualifications and unlawful insurance act" of 1935.

S. C. Liquor Accidents Are Off Since Repeal

COLUMBIA, S. C., June 16.—(AP) Accidents due to liquor decreased by 18.6 per cent during the first year of repeal, the State Highway Department reported today.

Data assembled by Wilbur S. Smith, traffic engineer assistant, showed that wrecks attributed to liquor decreased during eight months of the 12 by comparison with corresponding months of the previous year.

There were 226 accidents attributed to "recklessness due to liquor" during the year prior to June 1, 1935, when liquor sales became general, and 184 during the following 12 months.

British Laborites Term Cooper 'Scaremonger' and 'Bogey Man'

Britain, Meanwhile, Nears Decision on Lifting of Sanctions.

LONDON, June 16.—(AP)—Laborites fess cracked down on Britain's minister of war from two sides today, the eye of an anticipated formal decision to lift sanctions from Italy.

A peer and a member of commons used sharp language to protest Secretary Alfred Duff Cooper's statement of yesterday that "it is the duty of those in authority to frighten the people of this country out of their wits."

Lord Ponsonby, the labor peer, told a peace rally, Duff Cooper should be confined as "a deliberate, dangerous and disgraceful scaremonger." Later, Emanuel Shinwell, the laborite who ousted Ramsay MacDonald from his Seaham Harbor seat in the last general election, asked commons whether the war secretary should not quit "being a bogey man."

Duff Cooper replied acidly: "It might be just as well for labor to decide whether it intends to support or retard army requirements."

Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, an informed source stated, will announce in commons Thursday that Britain is ready to lift sanctions if the rest of the "sanctionist" nations agree.

That policy, already reported decided upon, is expected to receive the cabinet's formal stamp of approval tomorrow.

To justify freeing Italy from the economic and financial structures which resulted from her Ethiopian invasion, it will be stated simply that sanctions have failed.

Britain, furthermore, is prepared to lift sanctions late this month, for a complete lifting of sanctions, it was made known authoritatively. The government considers unless any partial abandonment.

EMANUEL SHINWELL

If the British view is backed up col- the way will be open not only for re- sumption of trade with Italy, but for loans.

Informed persons took pains to em- phasize there was no cabinet rift in connection with the decision to shelve sanctions. It was indicated that Eden, even before Neville Chamberlain, chan- cellor of the exchequer, made his now famous speech against sanctions, had become convinced their continuation was useless.

Nevertheless, the decision was ex- pected to run the flame of opinion in a large section of the country already smoldering under Chamberlain's de- claration that continued sanctions would be the "mid-summer of mad- ness."

WAGNER HOUSING BILL ATTACKED BY GEORGE

Plan Would Retard Heavy or Durable Goods In- dustry, He Avers.

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS. WASHINGTON, June 16.—Deliv- ering a slashing attack upon the Wagner housing bill, Senator Walter F. George, of Georgia, in a speech on the floor of the chamber, today predicted that if finally enacted it would fur- ther retard recovery of the heavy or durable goods industry and add nothing to the administration's program for the return of prosperity.

Although the measure passed the senate by the overwhelming vote of 42 to 24 following a few hours of de- sultory debate, the opposition of the Georgia member was shared by his junior colleague, Senator Richard B. Russell Jr., who voted "No" when the final count was taken.

On the whole, southern members of the senate voted for the bill, which had strong administrative support, al- though there were a few dissenters outside of George and Russell, such as Bailey, of North Carolina; Con- nolly, of Texas, and Smith of South Carolina.

Senator George, who attacked the measure just before the final vote was taken, warned that it ought not to be passed at this session of the congress when "we are moving both heaven and earth to raise some odd seven hundred million dollars in new taxes while this bill seeks to spend some five hun- dred millions of the people's money."

He readily admitted the proposed legislation was desirable because it provided for low-cost housing facilities for worthy citizens, but that it at- tacked the government on a roadway that would lead to ruin.

He charged that in the first place the Wagner measure did not enun- ciate a sound doctrine for the reason that "like an archer who shoots at a target which has passed, it is being moved through- out without due consideration."

The senator admitted that because of his weeks of work on the new tax bill, as a member of the finance com- mittee, he had not had the opportunity to read the bill consecutively or to give it proper study.

"But this also is true of a great many senators I know," he declared, "and it is one of the prime reasons why the bill should not be acted upon before final adjustments are made."

"I do not accept the doctrine that the power of appropriation is without limit. We cannot enter upon this pro- gram of housing without threatening to enter a state of socialism. After only a few hours of debate we seek to appropriate approximately $500,000,000 while your finance committee has been struggling to raise some $700,000,000 in additional taxation."

Senator George pointed out that this country could not build houses for part of the people without ulti- mately building houses for all the people.

"I will vote for taxes, as burden- some as taxes are, if I can have any assurance you will hesitate to assume liabilities which call for more and more taxes. I am through voting to pile up taxes on the citizens of this country. As surely as the sun shines, this country will hold my party re- sponsible for this housing program."

Registering unequivocal opposition to the government going to private business, the senator said it could not enter private industry without driving out of business private ini- tiative.

"Why," he asserted, "this program allows up the durable goods industry which has cried so loudly for the re- turn of prosperity. Here is a sure deterrent against recovery. Builders of apartment houses are discouraged by the content of this bill."

Evidently referring to the Tech- wood and University slum clearance projects in Atlanta, although he did not mention them by name, Senator George admitted it was all right to build certain low-cost housing pro- jects in "spots of the country" to re- lieve temporary unemployment.

"But," he declared, "it is time to give heavy or durable goods indus- tries a chance to breathe and recover themselves."

"Congress hasn't found a way to raise some seven hundred odd millions of dollars to save us from bankruptcy, yet we want to spend in this bill ap- proximately five hundred millions without proper consideration."

Senator Couzens, of Michigan, re- publican, interrupted here to voice agreement with the Georgia senator and to add that very little if any taxation would be derived from the housing program.

Some conferees hinted that the senate idea of retaining a corporation income tax that already is producing hundreds of millions in revenue and also fall in line with the house pre- ference—and that of the President—for a graduated levy on undistributed corporate profits.

Some conferees said such an arrangement ought to meet, at least ap- proximately, the President's request for $600,000,000 of additional per- manent revenue.

Housing Bill Passed. The senate, meanwhile, called up and passed the Wagner low-cost housing bill. It would provide for a $480,000,000 program of federal loans and grants to local housing au- thorities. The house still must act on it.

A bill to clarify liquor tax laws and set up an independent alcohol unit in the government was finally enacted today and sent to the White House after the senate approved a conference report on it.

Senate action still was needed on the Interior Department appropriat- ions bill conference report and on the latest version of a District of Columbia appropriation bill to get them to the President.

The conference report on the chain- store price-discrimination bill also is awaiting final action by the senate. Ship subsidy legislation appeared definitely out of the picture for the session.

Bill Termined Necessary. Drawing support from some repub- licans as well as democrats, the Guf- fey bill was termed necessary to the salvation of "a sick and dying indus- try." Aimed at stabilization of the coal industry chiefly through price- fixing, it would be operative for two years.

Representative Marcantonio, repub- lican, New York, told the house "na- tionalization" of the soft coal indus- try was necessary, adding he was "constrained" to support the proposed bill as the only available alternative. Termining price-fixing "mere artificial regulation," the New Yorker said all social legislation was "under the Damocles sword of the supreme court."

Another republican, Crowther, of New York, argued, however, enact- ment of the bill meant "going back to regimentation and codes." He as- serted similar legislation would require employers to establish a 40-hour week and 8-hour day and pay prevailing wages to workers producing materials bought by the government that cost more than $10.00.

Tentative plans were made to take it up in the house probably late to- morrow. Since the house version was brought in as an amendment to the senate bill, house approval would send the measure almost directly to conference.

Speaker Bankhead said that while the measure was not in the category of "essential" bills, the approval by the judiciary and rules committees enhanced its prospect for enactment before adjournment.

In addition to imposing wage and hour restrictions, the bill would also prohibit sweat shops, homework and convict labor on government contract- ed goods, and ban employment of per- sons under 18. Administration would be under the secretary of labor.

The bill passed by the senate last year was introduced by Senator Walsh, democrat, Massachusetts. It would apply to subcontractors far down the line. The measure im- mediately was attacked by republicans and some democrats as an attempt to set up a new NRA. Some business groups also opposed it as they have the Healey measure.

There will be similar rallies throughout the nation, where Mr. Roosevelt's friends will listen to his address by radio. All the rallies will be held simultaneously on Saturday night, June 27. It will be a nation- wide mobilization of democrats.

VIGOROUS CAMPAIGN PLANNED FOR STATE

velt nominators, Hardy will personally direct the Georgia drive. He es- tablished headquarters yesterday at the Henry Grady and began organiza- tion of the central office.

The general business session of the nominators will begin at 10:30 o'clock this morning at the Henry Grady and will be climaxed by a luncheon meet- ing to be held at 1 o'clock.

At first Hardy issued a call for district chairman only, but realizing the importance of a vigorous and early attack of the problem of raising the $100,000, he revised the call during the day, and invited all chair- men to attend today's meeting.

Chairmen were notified of the change in plans and the importance of attending today's meeting was stressed.

150 Are Expected. Hardy expressed confidence that 150 or more will respond to the call today and that the $100,000 will be raised within the next two weeks.

"Georgians are anxious to show their admiration and appreciation for Mr. Roosevelt," Hardy said. "This is a real opportunity to do a fine ser- vice for the party and to demonstrate our gratitude to the President. I am confident that the response will be overwhelming. All we need to do is to carry the message to the people."

This state—Georgia—is Mr. Roose- velt's other home. He so designates it on every occasion. We are proud of him and we have every reason to believe he is proud of Georgia.

Among other matters to be discus- sed at the convention today will be plans for the national rally by Roose- velt nominators to be staged in con- nection with the President's open-air acceptance speech at the Philadelphia convention. Mr. Roosevelt will break the tradition and instead of accepting the nomination at a second term in the convention hall, will proceed to Frank- lin field, where it is expected he will address more than 100,000 democrats of the nation.

Ballot Throughout Nation. There will be similar rallies throughout the nation, where Mr. Roosevelt's friends will listen to his address by radio. All the rallies will be held simultaneously on Saturday night, June 27. It will be a nation- wide mobilization of democrats.

JAMES L. WELLS SEEKS ATLANTA MAYORALTY

When called for a statement, he said: "You know I'm Scotch—Presbyte- rian, and don't waste anything—not even my breath."

The majority candidate is 55 years old. He served as chairman of the finance committee of city council un- der Mayor Key in the trying days of 1932, when it became mandatory that drastic retrenchment policies be push- ed through the city legislative body if the city's credit was to be maintained. He attacked the problem with a vigor and determination seldom seen in the past, and was successful.

He served as a member of city council under Mayor I. N. Ragsdale and also under Key. His first coun- cilmanship service came in 1923-24. For a time he left, but was returned by his constituency, the present eighth ward, in 1928, and remained a mem- ber until he elected to retire at the expiration of his term, in January 1933.

He is a member of the Rotary Club of the Atlanta Athletic Club and the Piedmont Driving Club.

Wells is president of the Southeast- ern Paper Trade Association, com- posed of dealers in seven southern states. He lives with his family at 2 Barkdale drive and has resided there for the past 22 years.

Mrs. Wells is the former Miss Ade- line Howard Thomas, of Atlanta. She has been married since August 27, 1913.

While serving as a member of council, Wells was one of the strongest advocates. Key and he have always been personal and political friends, and Key recently named him as a member of the bond commission.

OLSON BEATS TAYLOR IN MINNESOTA RACE

ST. PAUL, June 17.—(AP)—Repub- licans rejoiced in their biggest pri- mary vote since 1930 with tonight's tabulations of yesterday's primary con- test which sped Governor Floyd B. Olson's hope to enter the United States senate.

The Governor, seeking his former labor party's endorsement, proved the biggest votegetter in his list by de- feating Carl Taylor for the senatorial nomination. In 2,100 of the state's 3,724 precincts he piled up a 100,000 majority. The vote: Olson 107,700; Taylor 7,000.

His close political ally, Elmer Ben- son, whom he named United States senator on the death of Thomas H. Schall a few months ago, outdistanced another labor party favorite, the former Senator Magnus Johnson, es- saying a "comeback" in the race for the party's governorship nomination. The vote in 2,027 precincts: Benson 78,303; Johnson 29,426.

taken to suppress terrorism, he said the extremists would seize power.

Augusto Bascally Trelles, the mi- nister of state, replied hotly that right- ists were "fomenting disorders in an effort to discredit the government."

Civil guards and shock police were rushed to the Rio Tinto coal mines in Huelva province after 3,000 miners had announced they would occupy the workings until they get guarantees of steady work and more pay.

REPUBLICANS PREPARE FOR GEORGIA CAMPAIGN

Nationally Known Orators To Speak; Extended Drive Is Planned.

Issues and platforms of the Landon-for-president movement will be sounded in Georgia in about two weeks by many nationally-known republican campaigners and orators. It was stated yesterday by Wilson Williams, secretary of the Georgia republican committee, shortly after his return from the national convention at Cleveland.

"Heretofore republicans have concentrated on the north and middle west, but this time the campaign will be waged with equal vigor in the south," the committeeman declared. Plans for the campaign to be waged in Georgia and neighboring states, which are expected to be completed in two weeks, are under direction of John D. M. Hamilton, national chairman, whom the Atlanta described as "a man familiar with the south and the south's needs."

"The national chairman realizes the need of two parties in the south," Williams said. "He sees that the political situation is healthier when there are two parties. Talking to me at the convention, he assured me the southern campaign would not be conducted along the lines of prejudice, but rather on issues."

Williams also stressed the fact Landon's knowledge of agriculture made him familiar with the problems of farmers and southerners, and stated Landon "will make faster the political bonds between the south and the west."

The republican platform adopted at the Cleveland convention, Williams pointed out, contains favorable reference to the south. He said the agricultural plank provides that agricultural products, when exported, be increased in value by whatever amount the tariff increases cost the producer.

REVUE IS PRAISED BY BROADWAY STAR

Jane Burks, Here on Visit, Attends Kiddie Show; Last Performance Tomorrow.

Jane Burks, former Atlanta, who appeared on Broadway this past season in Beatrice Lillie's "At Home and Abroad," returned to the city yesterday for a brief stay—and immediately put in an appearance at the scene of her first triumph—the Kiddie Revue. In 1932, and again in 1934, Miss Burks was the featured tap dancer in the Kiddie Revue. She went to New York in 1934, and after almost a year of study, with the Beatrice Lillie company. Following a successful run on Broadway, the show went on the road. It closed a few days ago for the summer.

Miss Burks is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Norvell, of 238 Harrelson avenue. She says she will return to New York within three weeks to begin rehearsals for the new show in which Miss Lillie will be starred this fall.

The former Atlanta amateur expressed enthusiasm and praise for the eighth annual Kiddie Revue, now playing at Loew's Grand theater. "The Kiddie Revue has come a long way since I appeared in it a couple of years ago. Those youngsters—even the smallest ones—go through tap and ballet routines considered difficult for professional dancers," she said. "They're cute, clever and show lots of promise, should they wish to follow a stage career."

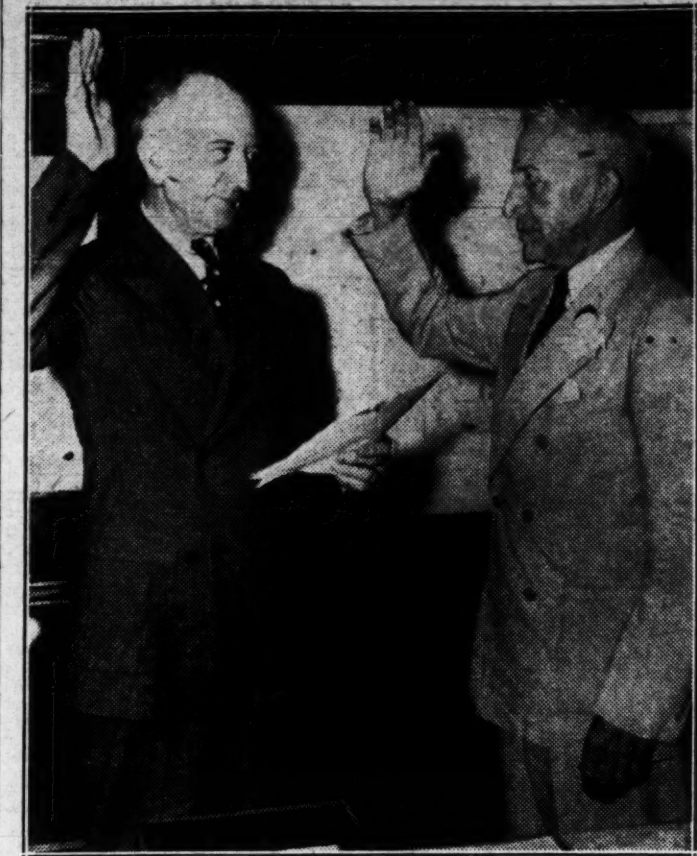

Naturally, Miss Burks is especially interested in the tap dance numbers. She was unusually enthusiastic in her praise of seven-year-old Charlotte Newman. Charlotte, billed as the "Personality Miss," gives a Ginger Rogers interpretation of the current song hit, "Let Yourself Go."

The week run of the Kiddie Revue will end with the last show tomorrow night. It is sponsored annually by the Atlanta Masonic Club for the benefit of the milk fund of the Scottish Rite Hospital for Crippled Children.

PLANE CRASH IS FATAL TO SEVEN NORWEGIANS

OSLO, Norway, June 16.—(AP)—Seven persons, all Norwegians, were killed today when the airplane in which they were flying crashed into a mountain at Sognefjord and burned. The plane was flying in a fog from Bergen toward Trondheim. Three of those killed were passengers; the others were the members of the crew.

An Old Army Oath—He's a Brigadier, Now

Colonel L. D. Gasser, right, chief of staff of the fourth corps area, which has its headquarters in Atlanta, was sworn in yesterday as a brigadier general. For the time being Brigadier General Gasser will remain in Atlanta as chief of staff of the fourth corps area. Then he will move on to more verdant fields—with the congratulations of every one who knows him and has served under him. The oath is being administered by Colonel T. H. Lowe, adjutant general. COUNTY SECURES LOAN CRISIS FACED BY CITY AT LOW INTEREST RATE IN COUNCIL PAY FIGHT

$2,050,000 To Be Borrowed From Atlanta Banks; Charity Plea Transferred.

Fulton county commissioners in special session yesterday ratified a county loan for $2,050,000 at the lowest interest rates ever extended. Under the agreement between the county board and Atlanta banks the interest charged will be 1 1/2 per cent on the general loan and 3 per cent interest on warrants. The 1 1/2 per cent figure is 1/2 per cent less than was anticipated.

"Tax anticipation notes will be signed by the board, and the loan will be repaid this fall as taxes are collected. James Respass, county auditor, was instructed to prepare his recommendations as to what bills should be liquidated and the county's needs for the remainder of the year, in order that the board may determine which should be tackled first."

The total county debt was fixed at $2,102,000, of which $1,418,000 is for 1 1/2 warrants. A request of Jere A. Wells, county school superintendent for $1,007 to help pay school fees of children whose families are on direct relief was referred to the board of public welfare on motion of Commissioner George F. Longino, who contended that the county is contributing $300,000 to that board, and should not be called upon to make supplementary allocations for charities.

Detective J. T. Woodruff Tosses Away Crutches

Happy day dawned for Detective J. T. (Jake) Woodruff when he discarded his crutches yesterday, marking the end of a long fight against lameness. Detective Woodruff was injured last September when he jumped on the runningboard of a liquor car at Fifth and Spring streets and the machine lurched forward, throwing him off. The wheels ran over his left leg.

He was in a hospital for three months, and, upon his release, was forced to use crutches. Now that he is completely recovered, he will work with Detective H. I. Hilderbrand on the day watch.

CRISIS FACED BY CITY IN COUNCIL PAY FIGHT

$32,000 Needed by Departments, Heads Say, Threatening Service Shutdown.

Failure of city council to allocate $32,000 to various city departments, as recommended by the budget commission and the finance committee of city council, will precipitate a crisis in operation of divisions of the municipality, unless council changes its attitude, it was said yesterday.

Councilman Frank Wilson, chairman of the garage committee of council, asserted unequivocally that if the funds are not forthcoming to "operate the garage, city police cars, sanitary trucks, construction department motor equipment and Grady hospital ambulances the vehicles will be driven into the garage and the service will be discontinued."

At the same time, W. Zode Smith, general manager of waterworks, said that enough money to operate the Hemphill and Rover pumping stations until November 1 is now available, but expressed "grave apprehension as to what will happen if we do not get more money before that time."

Each Need $5,000. These departments would get $5,000 each under the recommendations which the council Monday refused to approve, contending that the $32,000 should be devoted to reinstatement of 2 1/2 per cent of the 10 per cent cut now in force against non-school employees who make $100 a month or over.

Councilman Aubrey Milam, chairman of the finance committee, said he does not propose to call another meeting of the finance committee to consider the matter. He contended that the recommendations of the committee were ruled out of order by the presiding officer, Alderman I. Glover Hailey, and that there is nothing for his committee to consider.

The city garage, according to B. Graham West, city controller, has left $33,811.36 out of an $87,000 appropriation made to it the first of the year, and the expenses are estimated at about $9,000 a month. When the present funds are expended there will be no money to purchase gasoline and oils, or other supplies.

Council Attitude Hit. "I don't propose to try to run the garage when city council arbitrarily refuses to set up funds to do it," Wilson said yesterday. "We have the money to keep that department and other departments operating, but a group seems bent on diverting the necessary funds for other purposes."

"Council must recede from its position or a real crisis will face the city government. I want to see the salaries restored, too, but I refuse to do that if necessary services are to be discontinued."

Smith pointed out that he had asked for $5,000 for each of the pumping stations to purchase fuel for the steam pumps necessary to keep water in Atlanta mains.

"For the first five months of this year we expended $27,000 out of $55,000 appropriation at the river station and $29,800 of a $55,000 allocation for the Hemphill station," Smith said. "An inventory of stock on hand and the money left convinces us that even with the $5,000 recommended, we will not be able to get by. Under the present set-up, we probably can operate until November 1 or November 15, but if other funds are not available at that time, we shall face a serious crisis."

Other department heads made the same statement, stressing the urgent need of operation and supply funds.

ABIT NIX WILL SPEAK IN BUCKHEAD TEMPLE

Sardis lodge will be addressed by Abit Nix, of Athens, grand master of Georgia Masons, at the public celebration of St. John's Day to be held at 8 o'clock tomorrow night in the Masonic temple at Buckhead.

Masons, their families and the public are invited by officers of the lodge to attend the meeting. Entertainment will be furnished by Dr. and Mrs. Luther Bridgers and Luther Bridgers Jr., well-known musicians, and by the Greenfield Lodge chorus.

Francis W. Clarke, assistant to the editor of The Constitution, will address the Atlanta Foreign Trade and Travel Club at the luncheon meeting at 12:30 o'clock this afternoon at the Atlanta Athletic Club, speaking on "The European Situation."

Clarke returned recently aboard the S. S. Queen Mary on her maiden voyage from England after a survey of the political and economic situation overseas. The meeting today will be the last travel club session of the summer.

UNIVERSITY LEADERS SEEK IMMEDIATE AID

$333,333.33 Due From State Needed Urgently for New Buildings, Say Regents.

The board of regents of the University System of Georgia discussed plans yesterday for obtaining immediately the $333,333.33 due from the state on a building program. The legislature in 1935 set up a $1,000,000 program of construction for the various colleges in the system. Last year $333,333.33 was paid to the regents by the state as the first of similar payments to be made over a period of three years.

Recently contracts were awarded for sufficient new buildings to cover the appropriation set aside last year and matched by federal funds.

Chancellor S. V. Sanford said that the need for buildings was so acute at a number of the institutions that the regents desired to go ahead with the program of construction as rapidly as possible.

The money would come out of the general funds of the state treasury. It was announced that the regents and the Southern Broadcasting Company had agreed on extending the present contract for operations of WGST, Atlanta, for a period of 10 years.

The station is owned by Georgia Tech. Under the agreement entered into yesterday the broadcasting company now has the station leased for a period of 13 1/2 years as the present contract has 3 1/2 years yet to run.

The agreement provides that the regents receive 10 per cent of the sales for time on the station. The broadcasting company agreed to step up the wattage of the station to 2,500 within 12 months and 5,000 as soon as possible.

The broadcasting company is to pay for all improvements during the period under lease and at the expiration of the time it reverts to Tech.

DONALD MADDOX RITES HELD IN JENKINSBURG

Funeral services for Donald A. Maddox, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Maddox, of 389 North Highland avenue, N. E., who died Monday night of a broken neck suffered while diving into shallow water at Indian Springs pool, were held yesterday at the Jenkinsburg Methodist church.

Dr. Luther Bridgers officiated and burial was in Jenkinsburg. Maddox was a recent graduate of Bass Junior High school, and was visiting his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Bankston, at Jenkinsburg, at the time of the accident. His father is an employee of the municipal revenue collector's office.

COUGHLIN MAY BACK THIRD PARTY PLANS

candidate, but he drew a word picture that looked considerably like former Governor Joseph Ely, of Massachusetts, who has threatened to bolt the democratic party if the Philadelphia convention next week includes anything in its platform tending to revive New Deal legislation.

"Now you're getting too hot," Coughlin said, when he was asked if Ely was then an he had in mind.

At his Springfield (Mass.) law office, Ely said the whole business was a mystery to him, and added: "I never have discussed anything like that with Father Coughlin or anybody else. In fact, I never have given third party talk any consideration."

Boycott Threatened.

Coughlin threatened to "boycott" both President Roosevelt and Governor Alf M. Landon if his candidate does not take the field.

"I would not mention the name of either Roosevelt or Landon on the radio," he said. "But I will say that if this candidate consents to run, Governor Landon will come out a very poor third."

"The National Union for Social Justice can always concentrate on electing its men to congress and I predict now that we will have 275 seats in the house after November."

Coughlin was asked whether he and Smith were talking about the same man.

"Possibly we are," he replied. "Dr. Smith may have been approached just as I was."

ROOSEVELT, FARLEY STREET CONVENTION PLANS

WASHINGTON, June 16.—(AP)—Plans for the democratic national convention opening in Philadelphia next Tuesday were gone over at a luncheon conference today between President Roosevelt and Chairman Farley, of the democratic national committee.

Farley told reporters afterward he would leave Friday for Philadelphia and if the congressional situation permitted, Senator Roosevelt would go to New York, who will head the resolutions committee, also would go that day.

Although no definite announcement has been made, it is expected J. E. Mack, national committeeman from New York, who placed Roosevelt in nomination at Chicago four years ago, would do so again.

PRESIDENT SILENT ON CAMPAIGN PLANS

WASHINGTON, June 16.—(AP)—At his first press conference since his 4,000-mile western trip, President Roosevelt said today that he had no campaign plans for the present.

He added he probably would go from the Philadelphia convention next week to spend a couple of days at Hyde Park, N. Y., with his mother, who is recovering from a hip injury suffered in a fall.

The President plans to remain in Washington until he goes to Philadelphia a week from next Saturday to accept his expected renomination.

VIRGINIA DEMOCRATS COMMEMORATE ROOSEVELT

NORFOLK, Va., June 16.—(AP)—The Virginia democratic convention today adopted a 253-word platform commending the humanitarian purposes of President Roosevelt in his earnest and persistent efforts to rescue the country from an unprecedented depression, and instructed the national convention delegates to cast its votes for his renomination.

The platform wished for the President "the largest measure of success in every sound measure which he may hereafter project."

MISSISSIPPI DELEGATES TO BACK ADMINISTRATION

JACKSON, Miss., June 16.—(AP)—The Mississippi delegation to the democratic convention in Philadelphia today was instructed by the state convention here to cast their votes as a unit for the renomination of President Roosevelt and Vice President Garner.

The state convention adopted resolutions commending the Mississippi congressional delegation for supporting the New Deal policies and urged the members of congress to continue to follow the wishes of the Roosevelt administration.

PLANS TO DRAFT LEHMAN REVEALED

COUGHLIN, N. Y., June 16.—(AP)—Upstate democrats launched today a definite movement to draft Governor Lehman for a third term.

Former Supreme Court Justice John E. Mack, mentioned as a possible candidate in event the governor should not rescind his recent announcement to retire, said he had been asked to become a member of a committee to aid in the movement.

81-Year-Old Veteran Gets World War Bonus

LEWISTON, Maine, June 16.—(AP)—Eighty-one-year-old George Piper, of Farmington Falls, who went to France at 62 with General John J. Pershing, joined other World War veterans converting bonus bonds into cash today.

Piper enlisted in 1892 and served until July, 1919. He served 17 years at West Point, N. Y., and later, until the outbreak of the World War, at San Antonio, Texas. He was stationed in Paris during the war.

GANNA WALSKA SELLS NAPOLEONIC EMERALDS

PARIS, June 16.—(UP)—Ganna Walska, opera singer and divorced wife of Harold Fowler McCormick, was reported today to have sold her famous Napoleonic emeralds to Countess Haugwitz Von Reventlow, the former Barbara Hutton, heiress to the Woolworth millions, for 18,000,000 francs ($1,388,000).

Sale of the world-famous jewels, which Napoleon III gave to the beautiful Countess Verasis De Castiglione when she was his favorite, reportedly was concluded when the Woolworth heiress came to Paris recently on a shopping tour.

Madame Walska, reached by the United Press at her Chateau De Galuis, near Paris, said curiously she did not wish to discuss the matter.

Reports of the sale provoked wide discussion, however, to the effect that Madame Walska has encountered recent financial difficulties in France.

Her name has appeared in the headlines frequently in connection with various civil actions against her.

A few years ago a perfume firm sued her for $50,000, and shortly afterward she was sued for an advertising bill after being forced to let a lease on a Champs Elysees theater which she had chosen for future triumphs.

The jewels which she reportedly sold the Countess Reventlow include a double string necklace, earrings and several large bracelets, said by experts to be without a flaw and set in original old claw mountings.

Paris newspapers, which never refer to the Woolworth heiress without identifying her as the "richest girl in the world," made much of her recent shopping expedition and huge purchases of clothes in France's smartest shops.

ALABAMA NEWSMEN HOLD MEET IN HAVANA

HAVANA, June 16.—(AP)—Members of the Alabama Press Association, holding their annual convention here, went out to see the city tonight after an official reception by Mayor Beruff Mendietta at the city hall.

They visited several of Havana's typically Cuban night clubs, saw the Spanish game of jai-alai, and dined along the Prado, Havana's gay white-way.

Earlier, the group visited several Havana newspaper plants. Tomorrow the visitors will be received by President Miguel Mariano Gomez in the presidential palace.

MILO SMITH, FAIRBURN, DIES OF CRASH HURTS

A man listed as Milo Smith, 80, of Fairburn, died yesterday in Grady hospital of injuries suffered in an automobile crash.

He was admitted to the hospital June 7. Details of the crash were not learned, but it was said the man was injured three weeks prior to being admitted to the hospital.

Authorities last night were attempting to locate relatives of the victim.

POSTMASTERS NAMED FOR GEORGIA OFFICES

WASHINGTON, June 16.—(AP)—The Postoffice Department announced today appointment of the following acting postmasters:

Roy B. Allen, Lenox, Ga.; Annette S. Johnson, Palmetto, Ga.

Boy Conks Assailant Of Mother; Given Cash

A 15-year-old negro boy's defense of his mother resulted in hospital treatment for a negro man and a collection of money for him last night.

According to police reports, a negro listed as Porter Boland, 22, of 11-12 Fulton street, stabbed Corine Johnson, 30, negro, with a long-bladed knife during an altercation in her home at 20 Bell street, N. E.

She was taken to Grady hospital, suffering from wounds of the side and chest. Her condition is not serious.

A few minutes after his mother was stabbed, Harry Brown picked up a rock and struck Boland on the head, knocking him unconscious. So he went to the hospital a few minutes after the woman. He was not admitted, however.

When police learned of the boy's act, the hat was passed at police headquarters and a small amount of money was given him.

Atlanta Veterans Swapping Bonus Bonds for Cash

Corridors in Atlanta's two main postoffices and every branch postoffice were crowded yesterday with World War veterans bringing their $50 "baby bond" bonus certificates in for certification and cash. Special crews of postal clerks met them all, and each was identified, the bonds were taken in and receipts given. Within 24 or 48 hours checks will be received by the veterans. Here is a picture taken in the corridor of the old postoffice on Forsyth street. Staff photo by H. J. Slayton.

Women War Veterans--One Gets, One Misses Bonus

Atlanta women joined the long lines of World War veterans collecting their bonus checks yesterday at the various Atlanta postoffices. Miss Frances Templeton, left, was a nurse in the psychopathic hospital at Camp Jackson, near Columbia, S. C., throughout the war. She collected a check of the $50 certificates. Miss Templeton today is one of the city health nurses at Atlanta. Mrs. Paul J. McGovern, right, is the only woman from Atlanta who enlisted in a combat unit—the signal corps—during the war. Mrs. McGovern was demobilized, however, along with her sister workers, because General Pershing considered their work too perilous for a woman. She was discharged in a telegram and, so far, has received no bonus. Staff photos by George Cornett.

Atlanta Women Are Given Bonuses For Service to Nation During War

"Way back in 1918 when women were women in that self-effacing way, there were pioneers in the battles for equal rights and two of them from Atlanta went to war."

Today, those obstreperous champions of the equal rights that came only in 1920, are collecting their bonuses—along with the males who are flaunting their $50 bonus certificates before awed children and delighted wives.

The word ran around Atlanta yesterday. Postmaster Lon Livingston, approached with this brazen idea, declared emphatically:

"It's not so!"

"Can we count on that?"

"Positively!"

His questioners retired in disorder. But—

Wrong, Mr. Livingston!

A query here and a query there revealed that there is not a hospital in Atlanta where some competent nurse, of middle years, is not gathering in her $50 "baby bond" from the United States government.

From Grady hospital to Blackman, there are nurses, who are waving their sheaves of $50 bonds.

Not only in the hospitals are those veterans of the World War gathered. Today, many of them are married, mothers of families, rich with experience, mellowed by the accumulation of middle years.

"Oh, don't mention that!" they would exclaim yesterday.

Their objections were based on the fact that the war started 19 years ago. To be accepted for service at that time, they were necessarily stable, competent members of the nursing profession.

Consequently, a nurse who was to go overseas and act as a mother to an 18 or 20-year-old knight errant must necessarily have been in her late twenties, competent and dependable.

No American nurse got overseas whose record was not faultless.

Today, they are among the most reliable of the nursing staffs at Grady hospital, the Crawford Long hospital, St. Joseph's infirmary, Piedmont hospital, Emory University, Georgia Baptist hospital, Atlanta hospital and the rest of Atlanta's curative institutions.

They are enrolled members of the Atlanta's nurses' register.

And—they are all competent!

For instance, Miss Frances Templeton, of the Atlanta public health nurses, an adjunct of the city government.

Miss Templeton enlisted early in the war. She was sent to Camp Jackson, outside of Columbia, S. C. It was discovered there that she had experience in dealing with psychopathic cases and the army brought these cases to the top of the boiling cauldron of young men, selected and declared eligible for the army.

Young men, who had enlisted and who had, in fact, volunteered for officers' training camps, developed nervous symptoms as they went along. Many who had entered officers' training camps and had won commissions as first lieutenants, captains and majors, were found to be suffering from over-excitement.

Miss Templeton, who today is calling on the indigent invalids of Atlanta, had the job of trying to comfort many a budding young officer who had gone temporarily insane and who was determined to go overseas and fight the Germans in spite of mental handicaps that had revealed themselves in him after he had passed all other examinations.

Yesterday, Miss Templeton reached inside her capacious pocketbook and produced a sheaf of bonds that would have aroused the envy of any soldier. Over at St. Joseph's infirmary, Miss Margaret Bartley is just one of the eligible nurses of 18 years ago, who is still eligible.

"Miss Bartley is out on a case," was the curt word from St. Joseph's last night. There are three more nurses from St. Joseph's who are collecting their bonus bonds along with Miss Bartley.

Retired Nurse.

Mrs. Fred Souter, of 292 Baker street, N. W., whose husband works in a key shop downtown, is one of the nurses who married and retired from active practice.

Out in Avondale Estates is Mrs. Paul J. McGovern, the only Atlanta woman who actually enlisted in a combat unit of the American Expeditionary Forces. Mrs. McGovern, who was then Germaine J. Ulrich, enlisted in the signal corps of the American army.

When she enlisted in this corps were to go into the trenches and act as telephone operators on front line switchboards.

Three thousand women over the United States offered themselves, and only 100 were accepted. Mrs. McGovern was among this 100. Qualifications of these telephone operators were that they must be able to speak French, English and German. Mrs. McGovern, daughter of American parents, was born in Paris and had been educated during her high school years in Germany.

Two Women Killed.

Two women from America who enlisted in this signal corps branch actually reached the first line trenches. They were sisters, named LeBreton, from San Francisco. Two days after their arrival, a German shell exploded at the door of their dugout and both were killed. General Pershing immediately cancelled all enlistments of women and turned back the 100 who had been accepted.

"We were discharged by telegram," said Mrs. McGovern yesterday.

At the time of her discharge, Mrs. McGovern was in Atlantic City, undergoing final instructions with the prospect of moving overseas the next week.

Senator Dick Russell, of Georgia, is trying today to get a more official and honorable discharge for Mrs. McGovern and indications are that she will be given at least the minimum $50 bonus.

But, meanwhile, the nurses are joining the lines of men at the certification offices in the various postoffices around town and the bonus collection is not strictly a masculine pastime.

Companies named in the petition filed today are as follows:

Enterprise, Firemen's Mercantile, Worcester, Cotton & Wool, Leston and National and others.

The petition states that he has reason to believe the mill carried too much insurance with these companies in the amount of at least $1,500,000, that on April 6, when the tornado devastated the Gainesville area, the

JIMMY WALKER, WIFE TO RETURN TO EUROPE

Former Mayor of New York To Celebrate 55th Birthday on Ship.

NEW YORK, June 16.—(AP)—Jimmy and Betty Walker will sail for Europe tomorrow and Betty, at least, is happy to return after less than eight months in America. "Why shouldn't I be glad to go back to England?" said the wife of New York's former mayor as she took time off from packing at the Walkers' up-town apartment. "After all it's just like going home—you know, I was born on the Isle of Wight."

But Jimmy, who will celebrate his 55th birthday at sea on Friday, his fourth birthday away from his native New York, including three during his self-imposed exile, has refused to talk about his plans. Betty, brown as a berry and with her jet black hair combed down slick from its middle part, answered the door bell.

"Jimmy's not home and besides he can't give anybody a scoop about his plans," Betty said. "He's got too many good newspaper friends here in New York to do that."

She declined to discuss a municipal court order issued last Friday requiring her husband to submit to an examination regarding his income while mayor and the sum he was accustomed to giving his wife for spending money.

The court order was requested by counsel for a beauty shop seeking to collect a $555 bill against the former Janet Allen Walker, items including $35 for two combs and 98 facial treatments in four months.

"I don't know anything about Jimmy's business affairs," Betty said. She admitted, however, she was worried about Jimmy's health and would be glad to get him back to England.

She made it clear she didn't want to talk about their adopted child, Mary Patricia, now four months old, but they are not taking the child with them to England.

"My mother is going to stay here in New York while we are gone," Betty related. Mrs. Frederick Compton, who owned the Dorking House on the famous Southern Downs of England, returned here recently from California to say good-bye to them.

"We can't go back to Dorking to live because the house is burned down," the former Betty Compton continued.

"That report we are going to stay with Mr. and Mrs. Louis Stierling in London (he represents an American telephone company) is just a misprint and I don't see that it will do any good to say exactly where we are going," she said not saying how long they would stay.

The Walkers' former London apartment was subleased when they left last October.

MRS. BOLTON INDICTED FOR MURDER OF MATE

Friend of Slain Broker Tells of Previous Attack by Woman.

CHICAGO, June 16.—(AP)—The estranged wife of Joseph Bolton Jr., 44, slain insurance broker, was charged formally with murdering him in a true bill reported today by a grand jury today a few minutes after her police guards quoted her as telling them:

"Betty Martin's got away with it, why shouldn't I?"

Shortly before the reference to the blonde Mrs. Martin—who was acquitted recently by a jury as temporarily insane when she fatally shot her spouse, Andrew Bolton—two years ago that he spent 10 days in a hospital.

The plot which killed Bolton was identified by Harold Goldberg, Hammond, Ind., pawnbroker, as one he sold to Mrs. Bolton a few days ago.

The inquest was continued at the prosecutor's request until June 26. Ladd said he thought the altercation might have started when Bolton tried to obtain from his wife papers necessary for him to make application for his bonus.

NOBLEMAN PLAN
PROBE OF TITLES

Club Seeks To Wipe Out Impostors Who Prey Upon Society.

NEW YORK, June 16.—(AP)—Dedicated, among other things, to the protection of American heiresses from fortune-hunting rogues, the Nobleman's Club was open today for the business of exploring family trees and peering behind coats-of-arms.

The club, said the Baron Giorgio Mario Soriani, its president, would be a central clearing house for the 3,000 truthfully titled persons resident in the United States to establish personal identifications.

"And protect American heiresses from fraudulent noblemen," he went on, "and hotels from pseudo-nobility which issue checks that read—"

"Bounce," someone suggested.

"That's it," the baron confirmed, "bounce."

A press agent's summarization of the club's purpose was:

"Refusing to tolerate any longer the unethical activities of title impostors who prey upon society in the name of nobility, the Nobleman's Club proposes to put an end to their practices by exposing all impostors."

BLIND AID GROUP WILL ELECT TODAY

Activities of Past Year To Be Reviewed at Annual Session.

Election of new officers will feature the annual meeting of the Fifth District Chapter, Georgia Association of Workers for the Blind, to be held at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon at the Chamber of Commerce building.

Principal speakers will be Miss F. B. Wheatcroft, of the state library commission, and Joe Loewens, of the board of trustees of the Hebrew Orphan's Home, the institution which is being turned over to the Workers for the Blind to house their activities. Reports reviewing the year's activities will be read by committee chairmen. J. P. McGrath, president of the chapter, will preside.

The meeting will be open to those interested in aiding the blind. A musical program will be given by Miss Minna Hecker and Mrs. Charles Downman.

W.D. CHEEK, CONDUCTOR,
SUCCUMBS SUDDENLY

W. D. Cheek, veteran Pullman conductor and a resident of Atlanta for 21 years, died suddenly yesterday several hours after he was stricken ill. Although he had had a recent illness of several weeks, he was believed to have fully regained his health and death was unexpected.

Mr. Cheek had been associated with the Pullman Company for 17 years and at the time of his death was serving on the Atlanta-to-New York run of the Southern railway. He had served on virtually all railroads operating out of Atlanta.

He was a member of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Conductors and a member of the Georgia Avenue Presbyterian church. He was a native of Gainesville.

Surviving are his wife; his mother, Mrs. J. R. Blackstock; a sister, Mrs. Will Prater, of Fort Worth, Texas, and a brother, P. B. Cheek.

Funeral arrangements will be in charge of Harry G. Poole.

PATROLMAN IS FINE
IN INTOXICATION CASE

Patrolman Max Parker was fined $7 on a charge of intoxication but charges of disorderly conduct were dismissed following his arraignment yesterday before Recorder A. W. Calaway.

Payment of the fine was suspended, pending action of the safety committee on the case. Patrolman Parker was arrested last April 23, allegedly drunk in an automobile near an entrance to the Biltmore hotel.

In imposing the fine, Recorder Calaway commented that Patrolman Parker "has a splendid record and this is the first time he was in a case of such nature."

DEMOCRATS PUZZLED OVER TICKET PROBLEM

Philadelphia Now Finds Its Convention Hall Woefully Small.

PHILADELPHIA, June 16.—(AP)—Philadelphia democrats who boasted a big, new convention hall when they sold the city to the party's national committee last January, found it woefully small today.

Those in charge of preparations for the national convention, which opens Tuesday, announced that "the crowd could move into Philadelphia today and find the city ready for them," but admitted one problem—space.

Local party leaders were doing the worrying as constituents besieged them for postcards to get a glimpse of the big democratic show in this steadfastly republican city. Huge as the $5,300,000 auditorium is—with seats for about 15,000—it looked relatively tinier by the hour as demands piled up.

The national committee's representatives estimated ticket requests at 300,000. Charles N. Christman, director of the municipal auditorium, made the same reckoning. He told a newspaperman who asked him for a ticket that he was trying to get one for himself.

Christman related that "one member of city council wrote and asked me to allow some of his followers to go to an employees' pages, to put on working clothes, to do anything just to get in. It is just one of the instances of the pressure being brought to bear."

MORATORIUM ACT
ARGUED BY LEMKE

Co-Author of Bill Defends Measure in Federal Court.

ASHEVILLE, N. C., June 16.—(AP)—Representative William Lemke, of North Dakota, co-author of the Frazer-Lemke farm relief measure, defended the revised Frazer-Lemke moratorium act in a series of cases argued before the United States circuit court of appeals today.

It was one of the few times a lawmaker has appeared in court to defend the constitutionality of his own act.

Lemke asserted the moratorium act was but an adaptation of the principle of the principles set out by the supreme court in the Minnesota moratorium case.

Opposing lawyers argued the act was unconstitutional.

Six cases are on appeal but by agreement they were combined and argued together. The appeals came from the district courts at Lynchburg, Roanoke and Harrisonburg, Va.

District Judge John Paul, of Roanoke, had held the act was unconstitutional "in that it deprives creditor of its property without due process of law."

The appeals were heard by a four-man court and were taken under advisement.

BABSON NAMED HEAD OF CHURCH COUNCIL

SOUTH HADLEY, Mass., June 16.—(AP)—Roger W. Babson, of Boston, statistician, was elected moderator of the general council of Congregational and Christian Churches in today's opening session of the biennial conference. He succeeds Attorney John V. See, of Huntington, Ind.

Mary E. Woolley, educator and participant in world peace movements, was elected honorary moderator. Miss Woolley, president of Mount Holyoke College for many years, recently announced her resignation from that office.

An honorary moderator, Miss Woolley succeeds to an office that has been held before only by Rev. S. Parks Cadman, of New York, and former President Calvin Coolidge.

2 MORE ARABS KILLED
IN HOLY LAND RIOTS

JERUSALEM, June 16.—(Palcor.)—Two Arabs were killed today in a clash between British troops and a band of terrorists.

The deaths brought the total of known Arab dead to 54 since the Holy Land's newest disorders began. The 30th Jewish victim, Jacob Gerson, who was shot from ambush outside Jerusalem last Sunday, died today.

Tension was heightened by the approach of tomorrow's anniversary of the execution of Arabs convicted of murder in the 1929 anti-Jewish riot. Military guards replaced police in Jaffa and other Arab strongholds to guard against disorders.

CHATTAHOOCHEE LAND
CONDEMNED BY JUDGE

Federal Judge E. Marvin Underwood signed an order yesterday condemning 60,000 acres of land to be added to the Chattahoochee National forest in north Georgia.

The order calls for an expenditure of $300,000 in the purchase of the land from 2,000 persons in Rabun, Towns and Union counties.

Roosevelt Is Urged To Intervene In Arkansas Sharecroppers' Strike

MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 16.—(AP)—Accounts of a flogging which a woman writer and a minister-labor leader said they received in east Arkansas prompted a quick appeal to President Roosevelt today to intervene in the strike of cotton workers in the area.

Norman Thomas, socialist candidate for president, addressed the request to Mr. Roosevelt after Miss Willie Sue Bladen, 29, of Memphis, and the Rev. Claude C. Williams, 41, of Little Rock, told of being beaten by a band of six men.

"You have just come from Arkansas, where you evangelized the state and its leaders, especially Senator Robinson, without reference to peonage, mob law and murder," Thomas said in his telegram from New York.

"I appeal to you, not only as president of the United States, but as head of a great political party, to act in this monstrous perversion of everything decent in the American tradition."

Well-Made Mark. Miss Bladen, former social service worker, exhibited a well-marked back and expressed willingness to return to Earle, Ark., where she said she and Williams were beaten when they went there to investigate the rumored slaying of a negro sharecropper and to conduct his funeral.

Williams said he was lashed 20 times with a heavy leather strap.

Religious Leader. The minister is vice president of the American Federation of Teachers and southern representative of the Religious and Labor Foundation.

After hearing him, Williams said the floggers ordered him out of the county with the following statement: "We know you are not here to preach a funeral. You are here to stir up trouble. We are going to stop it. We are dealing mildly now. Get out of it or you will be killed."

H. L. Mitchell, secretary of the Southern Tenant Farmers' Union, sponsors of the strike, said counsel for the union would counter the day to "plan a defense of the entire situation."

Mitchell announced the strike several weeks ago, demanding a wage increase from $1 to $1.50 for a 10-hour day.

Although he claimed 3,000 cotton croppers answered the call, plantation owners said they have not been inconvenienced.

F. D. R. TO INVESTIGATE
ARKANSAS FLOGGING

NEW YORK, June 16.—(AP)—Norman Thomas, socialist candidate for president, said tonight he had received a telegram from Marvin H. McIntyre, secretary to President Roosevelt, saying the attorney general has been asked to investigate charges that a young woman and a minister were flogged last night near Earle, Ark.

McIntyre's telegram was a reply to one sent by Thomas to the President today asking for an investigation. It said:

"Reference your telegram, attorney general has been asked to investigate immediately and report. Signed, M. H. McIntyre."

Commenting on the message, Thomas said:

"I hope this investigation will be more fruitful than others ordered by the President."

Thomas sent his telegram to the President after Miss Willie Sue Bladen, 29, of Memphis, told officers she and the Rev. Claude Williams, of Little Rock, were beaten by a band of men when they refused to disclose the name of a man they had gone to Earle to interview in connection with a rumored slaying in a cotton strike.

FROG FARM OWNERS FACE FRAUD CHARGES

NEW ORLEANS, June 16.—(AP)—Albert Broel and Spivestor Schutt, operators of the American Frog Canning Company here, were arrested today by United States marshals and ordered held for removal to Freeman, Ohio, on charges of using the mails to defraud in connection with the alleged operation of a frog farm in 1935.

R. H. Carter Jr., United States commissioner, said the Ohio indictment alleged that the men advertised a theory that one pair of frogs, normally producing, at the end of 18 years could bring a profit of $380,420,000,000 to their owner.

Mr. Broel denied the charges and said they were inspired by enemies whom he defeated in a court suit and permanently enjoined from using a name similar to his concern.

He told the officers that he formerly operated a farm in Ohio and moved to New Orleans because the climate here was better suited to frog raising.

Bond for each of the men was set at $2,500.

PRISON GUARD KILLED IN ATTEMPTED BREAK

RICHMOND, Va., June 16.—(AP)—Two state penitentiary guards were shot, one fatally, and five convicts were wounded early tonight by C. H. Smith, a guard, who prevented the escape of eight long-term desperate criminals.

Powhatan D. Bass, 54, of Richmond, a guard, was shot in the head and body and killed instantly.

The eight fleeing prisoners and their three hostages were in an inclosed prison truck that was being driven rapidly toward the prison's west gate. Guard Smith, stationed on the wall, saw a convict at the wheel and called to him to stop.

The machine continued on its way and Smith opened fire with a shotgun. This took little effect so the guard brought a machine gun into play, riddling the back of the truck with bullets. The machine stopped at the gate of the penitentiary.

None of the convicts got outside the walls, Major Youell said.

BRUNSWICK OFFICERS PROBE BOY'S DEATH
BRUNSWICK, Ga., June 16.—(AP)—Circumstances surrounding the death of J. E. Brock, 11, were studied by authorities today after the boy's body, with the neck broken, was found yesterday floating in a creek.

The boy left his home early Sunday afternoon and when he failed to return, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Brock, started a search. Coroner J. D. Baldwin announced the boy had received a severe blow over the right eye, in addition to the neck fracture. Baldwin said the boy's lungs contained no water and that he did not drown. Officers were unable to determine immediately the boy's movements prior to finding of his body.

FEDERAL AID URGED FOR DROUGHT FARMERS

Appeal Is Sent to Georgia Delegation From Northeast Section.

ATLANTA, Ga., June 16.—(AP)—Appeals for federal aid for drought-stricken Georgia farmers went to several members of the Georgia delegation in congress today from a conference of agricultural leaders here.

A group of 25 prominent Georgia farmers conferred here with Harry Brown, director of the State Agricultural Extension Service. Telegrams urging assistance for drought-stricken farmers were sent to Senators Russell and Georgia, and to Congressmen B. F. Whelchel and Paul Brown.

The telegram urged "direct personal contact" with Henry Wallace, secretary of agriculture, to ask that something be done immediately. "It was the sense of this body of men that work such as ditching, terracing and in a general way improving the farm, should be made applicable to individual farmers, same to be paid out of the WPA fund or funds to direct grant or loan; also to liberalize the soil conservation act in order that returns might be sufficient for the maintenance of the distressed in this area."

Speakers at the meeting said they were asking aid chiefly for tenant farmers, and not for themselves. A list of the farmers who signed the telegram follows:

James H. Cootner, Jefferson; E. L. Hunt, Commerce; J. E. Johnson, Jefferson; R. G. Braselton, Braselton; Herman R. Braselton, Braselton; J. C. Camp, Windsor; E. J. Venable, Jefferson; Herman R. La Perriere, Jefferson; L. A. Davis, Jefferson; King Murphy, Tallapoosa; C. H. Evans, Hoescht; H. W. Hill, Hoescht; Russell F. Hoescht, Hoescht; Paul T. Maynard, Windsor; R. L. Pickett, Windsor; Ernest Brock, Atlanta; O. V. Butler, Athens; A. H. De La Perriere, Hoescht; W. H. Haley, Jefferson; J. C. Turner, Jefferson; Luther Brock, Athens; H. C. Bell, Hoescht; L. B. Hardman, Commerce; J. P. Gooch, Jones; L. C. Allen, Hoescht; J. W. Jackson, Jefferson; J. E. Jarrett, Center; R. L. Pickett, Pickens; Hoescht; J. Braselton, Braselton. The members represented 700 plows. They added that on an average crop would not be 50 per cent of normal. The amount of the group, who operates 15 plows, said that his cotton crop this year would amount to more than he usually raises on two acres.

HIGH PRICES SEEN FOR WATERMELONS

South Georgia Growers Are Warned Not To Ship Unripe Melons.

ALBANY, Ga., June 16.—(AP)—Thad Hucklebee, manager of the watermelon control committee, said today Georgia growers "bid fair to get the highest prices in five years for their product," but he warned them against shipping unripe melons to market.

"There is a tendency in south Georgia to rush shipments," Hucklebee said. "Growers should hold their green melons, otherwise they will lower prices and reduce the demand. It looks like a good season for Georgia and prices should be above their five-year average."

Georgia growers will have the market to themselves for about 10 days, Hucklebee said, when shipments from north Florida end late this week or early next week.

MELONS MOVE IN CARLOAD LOTS

QUITMAN, Ga., June 16.—Watermelons are moving from this section now in carload lots. Prospects look good for the crop. The acreage in this section has been cut by one-third, but it looks as if the usual number of about 1,000, will be shipped from Brooks county. Brooks, Thomas and Quitman are among the largest melon-shipping counties in the melon belt, each shipping around 1,000 cars a season. Mitchell, Worth, Tift and Lowndes are also big melon-shipping counties.

The market depends on hot weather in the north and usually reaches its peak the week before July 4.

MRS. LIZZIE HARRIS PASSES AT BRADLEY

MACON, Ga., June 16.—(AP)—Mrs. Lizzie Dame Harris died at her residence at Bradley yesterday after an illness of several weeks of heart trouble.

Mrs. Harris was born at Dames Ferry, the daughter of W. D. Dame and Mrs. Julia Gresham Dame, and had made her home at Bradley for 40 years. She was a member of the Baptist church and was active in the affairs of the church, Sunday school and missionary society.

Surviving are her husband, A. L. Harris, prominent farmer and merchant of Bradley; four daughters, Mrs. H. C. Jettin, Atlanta; Miss Reba Harris, Bradley; Mrs. W. B. Turner, Columbus; two sons, Homer Harris and A. L. Harris Jr., Bradley; six grandchildren; one sister, Mrs. M. Harris, Bradley; two nieces, Mrs. Radford Green, Gray, and Mrs. John M. Smith, Chattanooga.

Funeral services were held in the Bradley Baptist church this afternoon. Rev. J. Fred Eden and Rev. Cowart officiated and interment was in the Bradley cemetery.

STATE DEATHS

MRS. SARILL WILLIAMS.
LAWRENCEVILLE, Ga., June 16.—Funeral services for Mrs. Sarill Williams, 77, widow of W. B. Williams, prominent Guilford county citizen, who died at her residence last night four miles west of Lawrenceville, will be held from 10 o'clock tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock, Saturday, at the home of Mrs. W. THREE MEN KILLED IN GEORGIA CRASH Truck Collision at Swainsboro Fatal to Augustan, Two Negroes.

SWAINSBORO, Ga., June 16.—(AP)—J. L. Floyd, Augusta produce dealer, and two negro employees were killed today when their truck collided with another on United States highway No. 1 and burst into flames.

The negroes were killed almost instantly. Floyd, who was hurled away from the flaming wreckage, died several hours later in a hospital. His wife was at his bedside. He suffered burns besides other injuries. The bodies were taken to Augusta for burial.

Mrs. Floyd said her husband and the two employees left early today for Blackshear and Jacksonville, Fla. Floyd's truck collided with one from South Carolina. The occupants of the other truck were unhurt.

4 HIGHWAY WORKERS KILLED IN CAVE-IN

ASHEVILLE, N. C., June 16.—(AP)—Four highway construction laborers were killed today when a road bank caved in on them near Oteen hospital. The victims were listed as Bolden Brooks, negro of Asheville; G. B. Martin, Joseph D'Almeida and John Machin. Home addresses of the last named trio were not known.

All the men were employees of Blythe Brothers, a Charlotte construction firm engaged in relocating the Asheville-Oteen highway.

2 MAINE CANDIDATES TO CONTEST ELECTION

Secretary of State Barrows Defeats Page in G.O.P. Governor's Race.

PORTLAND, Maine, June 16.—(AP)—Two candidates in Maine's primary elections defeated on the basis of unofficial returns refused tonight to accept that verdict, while two others endorsed either by the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin's organization or that of Dr. F. E. Townsend held nominations.

Four so approved had been rejected by the voters. Joseph W. Connolly, democrat, Coughlin-endorsed, defeated narrowly in the first congressional district in unofficial counts, by the incumbent, Representative Simon M. Hamlin, said he would demand a recount.

Paul F. Slocum, rejected for the republican nomination to the house of representatives in the first district, indicated he would run next fall as an independent.

Slocum sought nomination papers from the secretary of state to petition his name on to the September election ballot as an independent.

Slocum was one of eight candidates vanquished by James C. Oliver, of South Portland, who carried the endorsement of both the Townsend party and the Coughlin group. Oliver's nearest opponent lacked more than 5,000 votes of reaching him. Slocum finished sixth.

Blin W. Page, Skowhegan banker-candidate for the republican gubernatorial nomination, who received the Townsend appropriation from Clinton T. Wunder, eastern manager of the old-age pension planners, lost by more than 18,000 votes to Secretary of State Lewis O. Barrows.

COMMUNITY CHEST LUNCH CLUB THEME

Advertising Club Aid in Welfare Work To Be Shown Today.

How the Atlanta Advertising Club is working with the Atlanta Community Chest to help restore to self-dependence thousands now on relief in Atlanta will be dramatized in a program at the ad club luncheon at the Atlanta Athletic Club at 12:30 o'clock today. The luncheon will be the last of the 1935-36 season devoted to serious advertising problems, it was stated by James W. Petty Jr., president of the club.

A feature of the program will be re-enactment of the "Heart Beats of Atlanta" radio drama to be broadcast over a hookup of three Atlanta radio stations at 1:30 o'clock just before the luncheon.

Legare Davis, chairman of the Community Chest, public relations committee, and J. R. Roberts, past president of the ad club and member of the committee, will explain how various advertising media are now being used to increase effectiveness of Community Chest work in Atlanta.

FLEEING CONVICT KILLED BY FARMER

Member of Trio Which Escaped in Laurens, Slain in Wilkinson.

DUBLIN, Ga., June 16.—(AP)—One of three fleeing convicts from the Laurens county chain gang was shot to death by a farmer from whom he demanded a change of clothes for his prison stripes today.

The trio overpowered a guard, took his pistol and fled in a county-owned truck yesterday.

Sheriff W. H. Adams said one of the three, whom he listed as Willie Foster, 38, serving a three-year term for burglary from Griffin, approached the home of Alton Denny, Wilkinson county farmer, and demanded clothing and an ax of Mrs. Denny.

She called her husband. Sheriff Adams said as Denny approached with a shotgun, Foster raised a pistol and the farmer shot him down.

Earlier today, officers said the fugitives had abandoned the county truck. They added that Clarence Carroll, of Dublin, reported three men took his car. It later was found abandoned near the Wilkinson county line.

The officers said they believed that the capture of the other two fugitives, whom they listed as J. T. Coker, serving 45 years from Rome for burglary, and Wilburn Brooks, under 10-year sentence for robbery from Atlanta, would be brought about shortly.

NATURAL GAS WILL HEAT 1,500 ATLANTA HOMES this WINTER
And under our new budget plan these costs will be paid in equal monthly installments during the heating season—the amount of the equal installments to be agreed upon in advance.
NOT only will fifteen hundred homes be heated with Natural Gas for monthly payments of less than fifteen dollars a month, but THREE-FOURTHS OF ALL ATLANTA HOMES HEATED WITH GAS WILL BE HEATED FOR A COST NOT EXCEEDING $18.00 A MONTH.
Thousands of Atlanta home owners have enjoyed the unequalled comfort of automatic heat with Natural Gas for several years, at surprisingly reasonable costs.
Now, in addition, we have arranged another worthwhile convenience—the privilege of paying heating bills in equal amounts monthly, so that heating costs may be known in advance and budgeted as accurately as any other necessary expense.
Let us give you the exact monthly cost of heating your own home under the budget plan. Phone Walnut 8051. There's no obligation.

THE RULES

1.—The "GREAT NAMES" contest is open to every reader of The Atlanta Constitution being a bona fide resident of either the state of Georgia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, Alabama or Florida, with the exception of employees of THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION and members of their families and with the further exception of any person who has won $1,500 or more in any previous newspaper contest.

NOTE: You do not need to be a regular subscriber, you may purchase The Atlanta Constitution each day at your newsstand.

2.—Beginning Sunday, June 14, 1936, and continuing each day for 12 weeks, The Atlanta Constitution will publish a cartoon. Each cartoon will in some way suggest or represent a name. The name may be that of a person, city, state, nation, book, song or motion picture.

3.—The Atlanta Constitution will award a First Prize of $4,000 as part of $6,000 in prizes to the person or persons submitting the best or most appropriate name to each of the 84 cartoons and in all other ways conforming to these Official Rules. The person or persons submitting the best or most appropriate names to all 84 cartoons and otherwise complying with these Official Rules shall be eligible for First Prize. The person or persons submitting the next nearest correct solution to the 84 cartoons and otherwise complying with all these Official Rules shall be eligible for additional prizes in the order of the correctness of their answers.

5.—In case of ties, as many prizes will be reserved as there are persons tied before any prize is awarded for a less correct solution; that is, if two or more persons tie in submitting the correct or nearest correct names to the 84 cartoons, the first two or more prizes will be reserved for them and will be awarded in the order of the correctness of such contestants (without cost) to a second and, if necessary, a third or fourth series of cartoons. In the event of final tie, a prize identical with that tied for will be awarded to each tying contestant.

6.—To expedite filing, answers or solutions in this contest should be submitted as follows: At the end of each week, during which a series of seven cartoons will have been printed in The Atlanta Constitution, the contestant is requested to mail or bring the answers to the seven cartoons to the Great Names Editor, care of The Atlanta Constitution, in a unit. Solutions to this contest are to be submitted in a series, seven at a time. The answers to the cartoons printed during any week may be submitted during the following week.

7.—In order to qualify for a prize, the contestant is required to accompany each of the 12 series of answers with a remittance of 10c in coin in payment for a special print of the week's featured cartoon, purchase of which is a condition for entering the contest. The Special Prints, suitable for framing, will be mailed to the contestant in one set, at the close of the contest.

8.—Any person upon entering the contest and by the submission of answers, agrees to accept as final the decision of The Atlanta Constitution and the contest editor, on all matters affecting the conduct of the contest, the making of the awards, and procedure and policy, with regard to the acceptance of submissions during the contest.

9.—Answer Forms to which no names are signed will not be considered nor will any claims to the ownership of such answers be recognized. The Atlanta Constitution will not be responsible for answers or communications unduly delayed or lost in transit either from the contestant to The Atlanta Constitution or from The Atlanta Constitution to the contestant.

10.—A contestant is permitted to submit as many sets of 84 solutions as he or she chooses, provided same are properly qualified, and each will be judged as a unit, but no person will be awarded more than one prize. When submitting additional sets of answers, all series must be identified as sets A, B, C, etc.

SCHOOL POST SOUGHT BY GEORGE C. GARNER

Education Board Member To Make Race for Second Ward Membership.

Elimination of "non-essentials" to restore the drastic pay cuts imposed against the personnel of the Atlanta school system was advocated yesterday by George C. Garner, present member of the board of education, who announced his candidacy as a member of the board from the newly-created second ward.

The Garner candidacy is subject to the city democratic primary, which will be held September 2.

Text of the announcement follows: "I stand now, after several years' experience and intimate contact with the Atlanta school system, as I have always stood—squarely behind a progressive program of public education. Personnel is our greatest investment and our greatest need. We must have good teachers. We must pay them salaries in keeping with the high type of professional services we expect of them. Therefore, I favor immediate restoration of the drastic cuts imposed on our employees since 1932.

"Salary restoration can and must be effected by elimination of some of the non-essentials such as the imaginary line set up by our junior high system and too much kindergarten and other foolishness now paid for by the school employees."

UNITES SET TODAY FOR MRS. PETERS

Tribute to Noted Atlantan Will Be Paid at Spring Hill.

Final rites for Mrs. Edward C. Peters, member of one of Atlanta's most prominent families, who died Monday night following a long illness, will be held at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon at the Spring Hill chapel of H. M. Patterson & Son.

Dean Raimundo de Ovelles will officiate and burial will be in West View cemetery.

Mrs. Peters was the wife of Edward C. Peters, president of the Peters Land Company. Her father-in-law, Richard Peters, was one of the founders of Atlanta and was largely responsible for the selection of the city's name.

She and Mr. Peters had been married more than 57 years. She was active in affairs of the All Saints church, and prominent in charitable and civic work.

HARRISON DISMISSED BY FULTON REGISTRARS

Fulton county commissioners yesterday were informed that J. C. Harrison, for the past several years employed to purge registration lists of Fulton county, has been fired by the board of registrars.

In a letter to the commission, signed by W. W. Gaines, P. W. Derrick and K. C. Gibbs, the registrars, it was charged that Harrison was "unsatisfactory and personally obnoxious." The dismissal was as of June 10, according to the communication.

CITY KIWANIS PLAN CELEBRATION

Entertainment Here To Be Duplicated by Clubs
Over Nation.

The Atlanta Kiwanis Club will join with 1,900 other clubs in the United States and Canada Monday night to observe "All Kiwanis Night."

This will be a simultaneous meeting from coast to coast and will be held during the 20th annual convention of the International in Washington, D. C., June 21 to 25. Kiwanians Jesse Draper and W. H. Knight are the delegates to this convention from the Atlanta club.

"All Kiwanians on the North American continent will join in this celebration," Draper, club president, said. "and 90,000 Kiwanians will take part in the program."

"The fellowship hour, which is a part of the evening's program, will be held at the identical time when it is observed by all other clubs and the convention in Washington. It will include a moment of silent fellowship, singing, and the reading of a special message from our International president, Harper Gorton, of Madisonville, Ky."

She and Mr. Peters had been married more than 57 years. She was active in affairs of the All Saints church, and prominent in charitable and civic work.

MRS. CLARKE RITES SCHEDULED TODAY

Long-Time Resident of Atlanta
Was Member of Noted
Louisiana Family

Final rites for Mrs. Peter F. Clarke, a resident of Atlanta for 50 years and active in church and civic affairs, who died Monday, will be held at 9:30 o'clock this morning at the Sacred Heart church.

The Rev. Fr. Edward P. McGrath will officiate, and burial will be in West View cemetery, under the direction of Brandon, Bond & Condon.

Mrs. Clarke was born at Scribbling Plantation, the ancestral home, on the Bayou Teche in St. Mary's parish near Franklin, La. She was the daughter of John Carey and Effie Hall Stirling.

She was educated in childhood by tutors, and then attended private schools in Quebec and Montreal. In 1883 the family moved to this city, her father becoming one of the early developers of Atlanta.

Mrs. Clarke was married in 1887 to Peter F. Clarke, founder of the American Savings Bank here and cashier of that institution for many years until his retirement due to ill health.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Clarke is survived by six daughters, Mrs. F. Ellison Adams, of Tallahassee, Fla.; Mrs. Charles B. Smith, of New York; Mrs. Samuel C. Peters, of West Conshohocken, Pa.; Mrs. Solon G. Gray Jr., of Montpelier, Vt.; and the Misses Edna Stirling Clarke and Mary Josephine Clarke, and two sons, Peter F. Clarke Jr. and Dan C. Clarke.

WOMAN ACQUITTED IN SHOOTING CASE

Jury Fails To Reach Verdict on Second Count; Trial Transferred.

Mrs. Rose Weyland, of 476 Capitol avenue, yesterday was freed of a charge of shooting at another, and a jury in Fulton county superior court failed to reach a verdict on a second count in the indictment charging her with carrying a weapon without a license.

Judge James Davis, sitting as a visiting judge, ordered a verdict of acquittal on the charge of shooting at another when city officers testified she fired in the air as she chased C. G. Wright, who lived at the same address.

Assistant Solicitor E. E. Andrews concurred in the court's action in that matter, but the charge of carrying the weapon went to the jury.

After the jury failed to agree, Judge Davis declared a mistrial, and ordered the charge transferred to the criminal court of Atlanta.

PRISONER BADLY HURT IN "BULL PEN" COMBAT

A fight with another prisoner in the fifth floor "bull pen" at police headquarters resulted in serious injury to a man listed as A. L. Logan, 38, of a Luckie street address, police reported yesterday.

Logan was admitted to Grady hospital suffering a possible concussion of the brain. His condition last night was described as "fair."

Police reported Logan and a man listed as Fred Jones, 28, of a Piedmont avenue address, both of whom had been arrested on charges of indecent exposure, engaged in a combat Monday night, and had to be separated by the turnkey.

Additional charges of disorderly conduct and fighting were placed against both men.

NEGRO IS ATTACKED BY HATCHET BANDIT

Struck from behind with either an ax or a hatchet, James T. Elder, negro, of 946 West View drive, suffered a possible fractured skull early yesterday morning when he was held up and robbed of $25 by a bandit near Jones avenue and Mangum street.

The negro, bleeding from the injury to his head, staggered to the home of J. M. Woodruff, 400 Jones avenue, who took him to Grady hospital. His condition last night was reported as serious. His assailant escaped.

SHIP CANAL IS LACKING UNANIMOUS SUPPORT

One Florida Representative Is Definitely Opposed to Project.

WASHINGTON, June 16.—(AP)—Efforts to revive the Gulf-Atlantic ship canal lacked unanimous support of Florida representatives tonight on the eve of the project's test in the house.

While three other Floridians placed their strength behind the $146,000,000 waterway, Representative Hardin Peterson, of Lakeland, announced he would vote against the deficiency bill amendment looking to a new $10,000,000 allocation of this year's work on the project.

Peterson, whose district lies in the citrus section of central Florida, said he believed construction of the canal was not a proper way to spend relief funds. He has opposed the waterway on the ground it might injure the water supply of vegetable and fruit-growing areas of southern Florida.

Representative Mark Wilcox, of West Palm Beach, declined to announce his stand on the issue. He said time had been taken up with drafting the municipal bankruptcy bill and that he had not had time to study the amendment.

The other three—R. A. Green, of Starke; W. J. Sears, of Jacksonville; and Millard Caldwell, of Milton—have favored the project consistently and were prepared to lead the fight for house passage of the senate amendment.

Canal proponents admitted they faced a bitter fight when the issue reaches the floor, but predicted a close decision for the amendment.

The amendment, offered by administration leaders in the senate, authorizes a $10,000,000 allocation for the project on the condition a board of engineers to be appointed by the President reports it is economically feasible.

FEDERAL COURT TERM SEEN AT THOMASVILLE

WASHINGTON, June 16.—(AP)—The senate passed and sent to the President today a bill providing for a regular term of federal court at Thomasville, Ga.

The measure creates a seventh division of the middle Georgia district and sets term for Thomasville court for the third Monday in May and November.

The bill requires that suitable rooms for the court be provided at Thomasville at no cost to the government.

ART DEALER DENIES THREAT TO MORGAN

Armenian Ordered Held in $5,000 Bail After Court Hearing.

NEW YORK, June 16.—(AP)—Gregor Aharon, 52-year-old Armenian art dealer, who was arrested yesterday on a charge of sending a threatening letter to J. P. Morgan, denied in federal court today he had intended his letter as a threat.

The whole affair was a mistake, he said, caused by a misunderstanding of his faulty English.

He made his statement after Assistant United States Attorney John J. Dowling charged he had written the banker warning him that if he did not purchase a statue which he said was by Michelangelo for $2,000,000, he would "suffer the consequences" and "pay the penalty."

Aharon contended he had meant to say that American art would "suffer" if Morgan refused to buy the statue. Federal Judge Francis G. Caffey, after the hearing, ordered Aharon held in $5,000 bail.

LANDON, KNOX STUDY DETAILS OF CAMPAIGN

Chicago Publisher Visits Presidential Running Mate in Topeka.

TOPEKA, Kan., June 16.—(AP)—Governor Alf M. Landon and his republican running mate, Colonel Frank Knox, met under a blaring sun today, spoke confidently to a cheering crowd and then got down to campaign details—from finance to finance—with the key men of their party.

In 99-degree weather, the presidential and vice presidential nominees shook hands on the limestone steps of the Kansas capitol as they embarked on what Landon called "a real partnership."

In the quiet of the buff-brick Kansas executive mansion, with their after-lunchon cigars lighted, Landon and Knox and their 17 conferees began to map the strategy which may spell victory or defeat in November.

Ranked around the two men were such kinsmen as John D. Hamilton, the new republican chairman; Henry P. Fletcher, the retiring chairman; Ezra Whitla, national committeeman from Idaho; Earl Warren, national committeeman for California; and close friend of Herbert Hoover; Charles D. Hilles, of New York; H. B. Cressager, of Texas; and Walter S. Hallahan, of West Virginia.

Strong support for a tentative plan whereby Governor Landon would follow his acceptance speech with an opening speech at his birthplace, West Middlesex, Pa., came from Mrs. Worthington Scranton, committeewoman from Pennsylvania.

Governor Landon will go to Colorado with his family next week for a brief rest—perhaps while there he may have an opportunity to scan the platform adopted by the democrats at Philadelphia.

Then, he has a special session of the Kansas legislature set for mid-July with the time and place of his acceptance speech depending upon developments.

Knox expected to spend several days

The measure provides for construction of three huge floodways—the Eudora in Arkansas, and the West Atchafalaya and Morgana floodways in Louisiana—which were designed by army engineers to carry surplus waters of any "super-floods."

Besides, it authorizes construction of seven reservoirs on the Yazoo river in Mississippi, and one reservoir on the St. Francis, in Arkansas.

Various levees also were provided for.

The measure was drafted by representatives of the three states most interested prior to the beginning of the present session of congress.

For three years they have fought over details with the result no measure was passed.

WILLIAMSON-JOHNSON FAMILY HAS REUNION

More than 100 descendants of the Williamson-Johnson family attended the reunion held Sunday at Hayne Creek church in Gwinnett county.

Atlantaans addressing the gathering included J. E. Skelton, Mrs. C. C. Johnson and Mrs. Annie Johnson Skelton.

After the morning services, a lunch was served in the grove in front of the church.

Garden-Minded Atlantans Going To 2-Day Club Institute at Athens

By Sally Forth.

GARDEN-MINDED Atlantans find their keenest interest centered this week in the Institute of Gardeners and Garden Clubs to be held in Athens on Thursday and Friday. It is the first gathering of its kind to be held in the state, and, of course, everyone is eager with anticipation over the solving of the many garden problems which have perplexed gardeners since Eve's day in the Garden of Eden.

The splendid idea of the institute originated with Mrs. T. H. McHatten, immediate past president of the Garden Club of Georgia, and the plans were worked out in conjunction with her husband, Dr. McHatten, who is director of the institute. The venture has the full and enthusiastic co-operation of the state garden club, of course, and the sessions will be presided over by the lovely president, Mrs. Donald Hastings.

In addition to its educational aspects, it seems that the institute also has a most beguiling social side. Dr. and Mrs. McHatten plan to keep open house at their beautiful Georgian home on Millidge avenue this evening, by way of initiating the gay program. The affair will honor the officers of the Garden Club of Georgia and the eminent speakers who have been engaged for the institute.

The Ladies' Garden Club of Athens, which has the distinction of being the oldest garden club in America, will entertain at luncheon tomorrow, with its charming president, Mrs. Roby Redwine, as official hostess. Tomorrow evening the University of Georgia will entertain at a banquet, with its engaging young president, Dr. Harmon Caldwell, presiding.

The Peachtree Garden Club will send to the institute Mesdames Albert Thornton, Jesse Draper, Malcolm Fleming, Hunter Perry, Robert L. Cooney, William P. Hill and Miss Edith Harrison. Representing the Habersham club will be Mesdames Luther Rosser, Fonville McWhorter, Edwin Romberger and Lawson Thornton.

The Iris club will send Mrs. Lawrence Willet, and the Rose Garden Club has chosen as its representatives Mesdames Willard McBurney, T. H. Scott, Philip Graves, I. M. Sheffield Jr., H. W. Beers, J. H. Hines, G. Rowbotham and Fleming Law.

PARTICULAR significance is attached to the bestowal of honor yesterday upon Allen D. Albert Jr. at the University of Chicago. Atlantans will recall that he married attractive Emily Davis several years ago; and that they return here every summer to visit Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Davis, the parents of Emily. Allen received his doctor's degree in the department of Oriental Languages and Literature, which is a part of the oriental institute. Allen is Mason-Bill lecturer in Old Testament and Hebrew at the university and is an outstanding personage.

The title of his dissertation was "Development of the City in Ancient Babylonia and Assyria." Allen's work was done under the supervision of Dr. A. T. Olmstead, visiting professor at American School for Oriental Research at Bagdad, Dr. Olmstead is regarded as the greatest Assyriologist in the country and is one of two or three in the world. Emily arrives here the first of July to visit her parents and Allen goes to an officers' training camp for two weeks before joining Emily in Atlanta.

YESTERDAY was a very special day for John Weller, of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., for he graduated from Princeton in the morning and in the afternoon he was married to lovely Connie Murray at the beautiful Princeton estate of her father, G. R. Murray.

In case you don't remember, John is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Johnson, of Wilkes-Barre, and the grandson of the late Mr.

Mrs. Otis L. Chivers, of Dublin, is state director for the Georgia division of Children of the Confederacy, and will direct the annual convention of C. of C., which convenes in Atlanta tomorrow and Friday.

and Mrs. E. Morris Yow, beloved and well-known Atlantans. His mother is the former Lillian Yow, of Atlanta, and he is the cousin of Margaret and Russell Stovall.

Last fall John was named an All-American football star, having played for the past three years with the Princeton Tigers as left guard. Connie, it would seem, goes in strong for Princeton. Her grandfather was dean of the university, her father graduated there with the class of '93, and now she has chosen a husband from Princeton ranks.

After their return from their honeymoon, John and Connie will go to live in a lovely house three miles out from Princeton, which was a wedding gift from Connie's father. In July, John will assume a position with the Robling Steel Company in Trenton, which should be a very happy association in that the Robblings are lifelong friends of the Murrys.

SCORING another hit for Mrs. Edwin Johnson, who is well known as a clever hostess, was the aperitif party at which she entertained on Saturday afternoon at Casa de Encanta, her beach residence at Sea Island, Ga., assembling numbers of Atlantans at Sea Island. Sea-blue walls and liberal use of yellow and white in the adjoining living and dining rooms, which open onto the screened porch facing the ocean, add to the cool

Miss Charlotte Wood And Mr. Leatherwood Wed at Home Rites

Miss Charlotte Heard Wood became the bride of Dowling Burrus Leatherwood, of Gainesville, Fla., at a lovely morning ceremony solemnized yesterday at 9:30 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Edwin Wood, on Copenhill avenue. Dr. Louis D. Newton read the marriage service. The musical program was rendered by Roland Tomlinson, pianist.

Pastel-shaded garden flowers against a background of palms and ferns formed an altar in the living room, where the vows were taken. Miss Joanna Wood was her sister's maid of honor. She chose for the occasion a gown of green lace trimmed in crystal buttons and worn with a white felt hat and white accessories. Her flowers were pink roses.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, and William Leatherwood, of Gainesville, Fla., served as best man. Heavy white shantung fashioned the bride's modish ensemble which featured a blouse of heavy corded lace, the wide sleeves of the swaggar jacket introducing bands of similar lace. A smart white hat with a brief nose veil and white accessories were worn with the costume. The bride's flowers were talliesman roses, swainsona and valley lilies.

Mrs. Wood, mother of the bride, was gown in navy blue lace worn with matching accessories and a cluster of pink rosebuds. Mrs. Eustace Burrus Leatherwood, of Gainesville, Fla., mother of the bridegroom, wore printed chiffon, and her flowers were pink roses and swainsona.

Mr. Leatherwood and his bride left for a wedding trip by motor. The couple will reside in Gainesville, where they will occupy their recently completed home.

Farewell Party.

A farewell party was given by Junior Service League of the Church of the Incarnation at the home of Mrs. and Mrs. Herbert McDonald on Olympian way recently in honor of Miss Elizabeth Gardner, who is returning to her home in Salisbury, N. C., after attending school here.

Present were Misses Elizabeth Gardner, Clementine Livingston, Martha Nalley, Polly Boone, Christine Thompson, Dorothy Thompson, Billy Joyce, Gibson, of Columbus; Gloria Williamson, of Etowah, Tenn.; and Bryan Herling, Billy Allen, Theron Eubanks, Herbert McDonald Jr., George Kennedy, Reginald McDonald and Richard Peiceson.

White water lilies and palest pink lilies with slim pointed petals filled an irregular shaped sea-blue bowl which centered the dining room table. Flanking the centerpiece were matching composites holding limes and deep fuchsia-colored California cherries. Even the tempting moulds and hors d'oeuvres reflected the color motif and emphasized the cool effect. Behind the table a cupboard held white Wedgwood plates, each centered with a different ship design done in yellow. The yellow note was also reflected in the large Audubon prints on the walls and in the yellow plates stacked at either end of the table for buffet service. Frosted drinks were served on the breezy porch.

Beautiful Recent Bride

Lovely Mrs. Charles Ellis Duncan is the former Miss Mary Ally Harrison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Cole Harrison. Her marriage to Mr. Duncan took place on June 5 in Anderson, S. C., and the bride and groom will reside in Madison, Ga. Mr. and Mrs. Duncan attended the commencement exercises at Virginia Military Institute in Lexington, Va., the groom having graduated from the West Point of the South. Mrs. Duncan graduated last month from Washington Seminary and was one of the maids of honor at the crowning of the seminary May queen. Photo by Walter Neblett.

TRAFFIC TAGS AMASSED.
Thirteen Toledo policemen were called into court as witnesses against a persistent traffic offender who had 20 tags to explain to the judge.

Answer: It is fine for you to see the wisdom of making a home for your child but why not be sensible and come to some agreement about money matters before you tie up the child's inheritance? If you have young and marriage was a brand-new excitement, how do you expect to take it now that the new excitement of parenthood has no illusions any dispelled? Do you imagine that a young tyrant who refused his wife the right to drive the car (which was half hers) and doled out dollars to her as he would to a servant, would be any more considerate on the second trial? It may be that you have been so chastened by the separation from your husband that you are going to be more considerate than you were before. But I don't know.

$5 Down on Rich's Club Plan

GRAYVILLE, Ill., Monday.—We had a parade of high school bands pass the house about 9:30 this morning, and then visited a sewing project and a National Youth Administration exhibit at the Carnegie library building.

An Illinois farmers' picnic, sponsored by four counties, Wayne, Washash, White and Edwards, took up several hours of our day and was the most novel and interesting experience for a lady from the east. I have been to county fairs and all sorts of organization picnics at home, but there were contests today which I had never seen before.

I am afraid we cannot start hog calling in Dutchess county, but I think some of our horseshoe throwers could compete with Illinois. I would love to hold a husband calling to see if the voices of our New York women carry further than they do in Illinois. The winner had a laughful call, which ended with: "Come in and do this wassing, I'm going to see Mrs. Roosevelt!"

The man of straw, set up for the ladies to throw rolling-pins at, was quite a joy. The wood-chopping contest required more skill perhaps than any other. It was interesting to see how well the older men could chop a log. The contest was won by a modest young colored boy who was questioned by the forester as to his ability and responded he was pretty fair." And then he chopped the log through in one minute and two seconds.

I am serving notice now that at the next picnic we have at Valkill Cottage we are going to have some new contests never tried before in our country. During the picnic a WPA band and a chorus of 40 negro voices furnished really good music.

The picnic was held on a farm belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Forster. They came down and joined forces with Mrs. Helm, and we all sat together on the platform and shared our lunches. There was more food than we could possibly eat—very good ham, chicken, stuffed eggs, salad, apple pie, cheese and every kind of cake.

When we left the picnic grounds we went for a short drive, in order that we might see some of the soil conservation and forestry work done by the CCC boys. The terracing is very interesting. It was significant to discover how comparatively little electrification, or even running water in the houses, there is in this section of Illinois.

Mrs. Helm is "at home" again this afternoon and the WPA bands are giving a concert in the street at 6 o'clock. The day has been a full but a very enjoyable one.

IN SCOTTSBORO CASE
DECATUR, Ala., June 18.—(UP) Postponement until November 2 of trial of six of the nine negro defendants in the celebrated Scottsboro assault case was obtained today by defense attorneys.

Following a conference with Defense Attorney Clarence L. Watts, Huntsville, Ala., Judge W. W. Callahan announced the change in trial date from mid-July to permit Representative A. H. Carmichael, recently retained as a defense attorney, to study evidence.

IRVING BERLIN, WIFE ARE VISITED BY STORK
NEW YORK, June 18.—(P)—An eight-pound daughter was born to Irving Berlin, the song writer, and his wife, the former Ellen Mackay, early today.

At Doctors' hospital, where the baby was born, attendants said her parents had decided to name her Elizabeth Irving Berlin.

Both the mother, daughter of Clarence H. Mackay, Long Island millionaire, and the baby, were said to be "doing very nicely."

some of which are new to food scientists delivered into the reports by food scientists on the subject.

The most significant fact about alcohol calories is that they are not stored but are rapidly converted into energy. Alcohol, definitely a fuel, must be burned in excess energy as soon as the tissues are saturated. But, you must remember that as more alcohol calories are consumed less demand is made on the stored calories for energy. In other words, the more you drink the less you lose weight, if you are overweight.

Aside from the calorie content of alcohol, quantity is to be considered in a figure program. Large amounts of liquid, such as beer and ale, distend the stomach and increase food capacity. This defests one of the first principles of reducing, which is to shrink the stomach and thereby lessen the appetite. All in all, there is little to be said for alcoholic beverages in figure program.

If your appetite needs discouragement rather than encouragement, and your weight problem demands that you call on your stored calories for energy, you must take into account the calorie misbehaviour of alcohol. There is no doubt about it, alcohol definitely interferes with your weight loss, and the way of the transgressor may lead to avoidupis.

O. HENRY ENCORE

The Lost Works of W. Sidney Porter (O. Henry)

IN MEZZOTINT.

The doctor had long ago ceased his hospital practice, but whenever there was a case of special interest among the wards, his spirited team of bays was sure to be seen standing at the hospital gates. Young, handsome, at the head of his profession, possessing an ample income, and married but six months to a beautiful girl who adored him, his lot was certainly one to be envied.

It must have been 9 o'clock when he reached home. The stableman took the team and he ran up the steps lightly. The door opened and Doris' arms were flung tightly about his neck and her wet cheek pressed to his.

"Oh, Ralph," she said, her voice quivering and plaintive, "you are so late. You can't think how I miss you when you don't come at the usual hour. I've kept supper warm for you. I'm so jealous of those patients of yours—they keep you from me so much."

"How fresh and sweet and wholesome you are, after the sights I have to see," he said, smiling down at her girlish face with the airy confidence of a man who knows himself well beloved. "Now, pour my coffee, little one, while I go up and change clothes."

After supper he sat in the library in his favorite armchair and she sat in her special place upon the arm of the chair and held a match for him to light his cigar. She seemed so glad to have him with her; every touch was a caress, and every word she spoke had that lingering, loving drawl that a woman uses to but one man—at a time.

"I lost my case of cerebro-spinal meningitis tonight," he said gravely.

"I have you, and I don't have you," she said. "Your thoughts are always with your profession, even when I think you are most mine. Ah, well, with a sigh, 'you help the suffering and I would see all that suffer relieved or else like your cerebro—what is it? patient, at rest.'"

"A queer case, too," said the doctor, patting his wife's hand and gazing into the clouds of cigar smoke. "He should have recovered. I had him cured, and he died on my hands without any warning. Ungrateful, too, for I treated that case beautifully. Confound the fellow. I believe he wanted to die. Some nonsensical romance worried him into a fever."

"A romance? Oh, Ralph, tell it to me. Just think! A romance in a hospital."

"He tried to tell it to me this morning in snatches between paroxysms of pain. He was bending backward till his head almost touched his heels, and his ribs were nearly cracking, yet he managed to convey something of his life story."

"Oh, how horrible," said the doctor's wife, slipping her arm between his neck and the chair.

"It seems," went on the doctor, "as well as I could gather, that some girl had discarded him to marry a more well-to-do man, and he lost hope and interest in life, and went to the dogs. No, he refused to tell her name. There was a great pride in that meningitis case. He lied like an angel about his own name, and he gave his watch to the nurse and spoke to her as he would to a queen. I don't believe I ever will forgive him for dying, for I worked the next thing to a miracle on him. Well, he died this morning, and—let me get a match—oh, yes, here's a little thing in my pocket he gave me to have buried with him. He told me about starting to a concert with this girl one night and they decided not to go in, but take a moonlight walk instead. She tore the ticket in two pieces, and gave him one half and kept the other. Here's his half, this little red piece of pasteboard with the word 'Admit—' printed on it. Look out, little one—that old chair arm is so slippery. Hurt you?"

"No, Ralph. I'm not so easy hurt. What do you think love is, Ralph?"

"Love? Little one! Oh, love is undoubtedly a species of mild insanity. An overbalance of the brain that leads to an abnormal state. It is as much a disease as measles, but as yet, sentimentalists refuse to hand it over to us doctors of medicine for treatment."

His wife took the half of the little red ticket and held it up.

"Admit—" she said, with a little laugh. "I suppose by this time he's admitted somewhere, isn't he, Ralph?"

"Somewhere," said the doctor, lighting his cigar afresh.

"Finish your cigar, Ralph, and then come up," she said. "I'm a little tired, and I'll wait for you above."

"All right, little one," said the doctor. "Pleasant dreams!"

He smoked the cigar out and then lit another.

It was nearly 11 when he went upstairs.

The light in his wife's room was turned low and she lay upon her bed undressed. As he stepped to her side and raised her hand, some steel instrument fell and jingled upon the floor, and he saw upon the white countenance a creeping red horror that froze his blood.

He sprang to the lamp and turned upon the blade. A sharp light parted his lips to send forth a shout, he paused for a moment, with his eyes upon his dead patient's half ticket that lay upon the table. The other half had been neatly fitted to it, and it now read: ADMIT TWO.

My Broncho.

Yoho! Away o'er the mesquite ward. With stirrups foot and a slackened rein; With drumming hoofs, the hills toward.

And our track the boundless grassy plain; Light in the saddle and ready hand; Ride in the teeth of the wind and sand.

Wind, and sand, and rain. Knees pressed tight on the saddle flap Where the lasso dangles from its ring.

Over the rifle scabbard strap, And the cantabien and audacious swing; The wind sings hollow in my ear. Nor sail nor wheel could follow near.

Sail, nor wheel, nor wing. On dusty roads and streets there prowl Bent riders perched on noiseless wheels; Missshapen things with mannish scowl; Strange crafts with unknown bows and keels;

Scaree fish cased in Folly's net; Queer human, flesh, or fowl—scarce yet Red herring, flesh or fowl, Yoho! O'er the hills and far away, My broncho spins the gravel slope; This is the ride for a man away; The valleys at gallop the hills at alope;

Who would exchange for the senseless wheel The life and strength that the horsemen feel? Life, and strength, and hope.

The Modern Venus.
The golden apple Paris gave To the most beautiful of things. To the fairest Aphrodite tell, Although she had no pull.

She did not run her rivals down, Nor canvass, sue or beg; She did not hae her rivals down, Nor pull her best friend's leg.

She stood in beautiful youthfulness, Inevitable rose of love; When Paris held the apple forth She did not scrouge or shove.

Alas! our modern Venuses Far different methods used To gain the palm of loveliness Whenever one we choose.

Towns, churches and societies Now offer prizes rare To one among the pretty girls Who is adjudged most fair.

Our modern Venus hustles forth And campaigns all the town, And begs men to buy votes for her; Smith, Johnson, Jones and Brown.

'Twas not thus Venus Victrix gained The gift of Priam's son By beauty, not by begging, was The golden apple won.

The Cricket.
When the moonlight falls from the star-strewn sky, Comes the tune of the mockingbird; When the morning dawns and the roses sigh, Then the lark's sweet voice is heard.

When all things awake, And the hours beguile, And the hearts of the singers are stirred, Then the hearts of the singers are stirred.

When the dull, cold night makes the heart sick low, And the death watch ticks in the wall, And the soul lies crouched like a harried foe, Comes the cricket's merry call.

In the hour of fear, With his nois of cheer, Rings his sprightly madrigal.

Celestial Sounds.
With three men on the bases, And one to tie the score, The batter rubs on his hands, The runners play off more.

He hits a home run o'er the fence, The air is full of cheers; That short city of the ball and bat Is music of the spheres.

Pelicans Beat Crackers, 5-3, in Second To Square Series

ABOARD U. S. S. DICKERSON, WITH GEORGIA TECH N. R. O. T. C. UNIT, EN ROUTE PANAMA CANAL, June 16. There is an old line from the old Ingoldsby legends which reads: "It's very odd that sailor men should talk so very queer."

And Georgia Tech's young students who are at sea on the destroyers Dickerson and Schenck are learning that fact daily.

Most of these near 100 men are new to the sea. All they have known of it is the army at Tech where one may walk the bridge of a ship that never sails and tread the deck of a ship that has never known sea water.

The average landlubber knows a few of the seagoing, salty phrases and terms. "Pipe Down" and "Hit the Deck," came out of the war.

But the verb "to Flemish." Now, there's a new one.

When a sailor says he thinks he will "Flemish down" he means only that he will go to his bunk and curl up for a nap. The phrase comes from the coiling of a rope, which is called Flemishing instead of coiling.

The English sea terms were derived from the Greek, Latin, Italian, Spanish, French and Dutch sources, whose ships sailed the seven seas when ships for sailing the seas first came into being.

From the ship's library comes a glossary of some of the better known terms.

THE ADMIRAL'S TITLE.

The Arabians supplied the admiral's title. Their word for commander of the seas was Amir-al-Bahr. Bahr was dropped and as early as the Crusades they were calling the commander the admiral.

The Vikings gave us the word "Ahoy." It was their battle cry on sighting a ship. And a very dreaded battle cry it was. From it we have the prosaic call to attract attention such as "Ship, Ahoy" or "Ahoy, there." (The old landlubber is learning.)

The Greeks had a word for it. I mean they supplied us with the word for "Anchor." It is derived from a Greek word meaning "hook" or "crook." And I venture even George and Angelo Hanjaras of the United Lunch didn't know that.

Sailors are called "Blue Jackets" because the first uniform ever sanctioned for sailors in the royal navy was a short blue jacket open in the front. And that was years ago. Before that the sailors wore very curious assortments of clothes.

Don't ever speak to a sailor of his ship and call it a boat. It isn't. Boats are carried on ships. And boats get their name from an old Anglo-Saxon word, "bat."

The boatswain is an important person aboard. The Saxon word for servant was "swein" and "Batswein" was in charge of the boats.

The fast sailing vessels in the old days on the Mediterranean were brigantines. Later they came to be thought of as pirate ships.

And buccaners were the first cowboys down in old Haiti and were Frenchmen. Which is a little embarrassing to the Golden West. The word "buccan" is of Caribbean origin and meant a dealer in smoked meats. Old Morgan and other pirates used to put ashore certain men on certain islands and keep them there smoking meats for food when the pirate ships put in.

And the word bugle comes from the French and meant, originally, "wild ox." If there is a small boy next door to you who plays a bugle he undoubtedly sounds much worse than a wild ox.

BUTTONS ON THE SLEEVES.

The origin of buttons on the sleeves is a beautiful, aesthetic little story. They are there for a purpose and do not think otherwise. That is to say, they were there for a purpose. They may be just decorations now. But not always.

The British midshipmen used to enter the service at the age of 12 years or younger. And a British commentator wrote:

"In the earlier days of the last century, small mites of boys eight or nine years old and even younger, were sent to sea. When these small boys were first at sea, they were one and all so woefully homesick that they had a continuous case of sniffles, and for the first part of their term of service they were forever rubbing their poor little homesick and dripping eyes and noses on the cuffs of their coats. This was so detrimental to the ap-

Produces for Crackers

Alameda Al Browne is the talk of the town. He's the rookie sensation of the Southern league. The Cracker right fielder, leading all those Crackers at bat who are in there every day, has shown amazing improvement during the season. Browne's fielding has been overshadowing his hitting which is very good. He's a great prospect and the fans swear by him. Staff photo by George Cornett.

Browne Is Sensation Of Southern Rookies

Opposing Pitchers Can't Locate Alameda's Weakness; Star Possesses "Color."

By Jack Troy.

The actual battling leader of the Atlanta Crackers is Alameda Al Browne, the California Clipper or the Portside Pulverizer.

As days go by, Alameda Al Browne looks more and more like the prize rookie of the Southern league. If he has a weakness, it hasn't been discovered.

He has a weakness, but it has nothing to do with his baseball playing. His devotion to his family twice caused him to return home in the middle of the season.

Last year, for instance, he left the Crackers and went home because he was homesick, for one thing, and an heir was expected, for another thing.

Baseball did not mean so much to Al Browne that he should stay on one side of the continent with his family living on the other side. And so he returned home.

It all changed the past winter when a baby daughter was born to the Brownes on Christmas day, and Alameda Al got his big chance in spring training.

With Joe Hutchinson ill and unable to report, Browne finally had his chance, and he proceeded to make good from the start.

The family joined him here and everything was made complete.

Al Browne was forced out of a few games because of a pulled muscle, but he has been most consistent in all the rest. Browne is possessed of a great throwing arm. He's a very able fielder and a dangerous hitter.

His great fielding has been overshadowing his hitting, of late. And yet he is hitting above .325 in his more than 200 trips to the plate.

The "B" boy of the Crackers is a sensation. He has a bit of that quality known as "color." And, withal, he is a fine prospect.

TOM IRWIN TOPS BIRDS IN FIELD AND ON OFFENSE

Durham Goes Out After Second Inning; Bud Thomas Today.

By Jack Troy.

It was college night at Ponce de Leon park last night, with young Tommy Irwin putting on a one-man show to beat the Crackers, 5 to 3, before a crowd of 11,323, of which 5,680 were ladies.

The former North Carolina Tarheel was "tar" on defense and thunder on offense. Irwin, Larry Gilbert's newest find, did nothing if not drive in two of the five runs, score the other three himself, handle 11 chances perfectly and otherwise vindicate the faith of Manager Gilbert, who sees the former collegian as a major league prospect.

The Pelicans would not have been in it but for Tommy Irwin. He started the downfall of Bobby Durham, seeking his 11th victory, in the first inning by chucking a double on the first pitched ball and setting in motion a two-run rally.

And he completed the assault of Durham in the second by walling up a home run in the left-field stands with one runner aboard. Durham retired after batting for himself in the Cracker half of the seventh. Ralph West finished out the game.

Billie Bayne carried on through the seventh, allowing only three hits and one run. He retired in favor of pinch-hitter Johnny Hill in the Cracker half of the seventh. Ralph West finished out the game.

It was, as said, practically a one-man show, and there was nothing the Crackers could do about it, despite the fact that they sent Butzman to the showers early in the seventh. The Crackers were still two runs behind when Butzman went out and Bill Thomas came in. And the fielding of Irwin and Ernie Smith, collaborating in double plays, saved Butzman's victory.

FLEMING DELIVERS.

Pete Fleming drove in the other two runs, each time sending the impish Irwin scampering across the plate. The Pels scored their second run of the game on an error.

Of the 10 hits collected off the three Cracker pitchers, Irwin secured three and Rose amassed two.

Atlanta got 10 hits off the combined deliveries of Butzman and Thomas, but in only two innings—the third and seventh—could they make them count for runs. Great fielding, mostly by Irwin, stopped them on other occasions.

Third game of the series, which is now all-even, will be played this afternoon at 4 o'clock. Bud Thomas, seeking his 11th victory, will face Bill Fenn.

VOIS LOSE TOO.

The Crackers lost no ground by dropping last night's thriller to the Pels, since second-place Nashville took an artistic wallowing from the Little Rock Travelers. So the Crackers simply held their lead of seven full games.

The Pels remained out of the first division only because the Travelers won.

Irwin, the "baby face" killer, started the ball rolling in the first when he bounced the first pitch off the fence at the bottom of the left-field stands for a double. Smith grounded out and then Irwin scored from second on Fleming's infield out.

Fleming's smash caromed off Durham's glove into the hands of wee Butz Chatham, who threw him out at first. Henrich followed with a double over the first row of signs in right and scored when Hooks fumbled Morgan's grounder. Rose flied to Harris to retire the side.

Young Irwin had on his batting clothes, and no mistake, for he clouted a home run in the second inning with Helf, who had walked, on ahead of him. This stretched the score to 4 to 0 in favor of the aroused Pels.

BAYNE ON HILL.

Durham retired and Billy Bayne went in to pitch at the beginning of the third.

The Crackers retrieved two of their runs in the third. Mailho led off with a single to center and Moore walked. Hooks slapped a double to left-center. Mailho scored and Moore was out at the plate on a great relay, flied to Irwin to Helf. Harris singled to left, scoring Hooks. Lipscomb popped to Morgan and Browne fanned.

The Pels scored their fifth run in the seventh. It was Irwin again. The youngster led off with a single, moved up on Smith's sacrifice and scored on Fleming's single.

WARREN WINS.

The Warren Company defeated Canton (Georgia) last night on the Warren athletic field, 10 to 8, with a crowd of 2,000 people present. Lefty Eldso, doing the hurling chores for the Refrigerator Makers, held the visitors out of the win column while his mates were collecting 12 hits and 10 runs off the efforts of this Fuller, Canton pitcher. Ed Copeland who relieved Eldson in the ninth, did splendid pitching to retire the batters in order.

What The Well-Pressed Man Is Wearing!

TROPI-TEX SUITS in Window-Pane Plaids

If every man in Atlanta wore a Tropi-tex suit this summer, the dry-cleaning and pressing establishments would have slim pickings. A Tropi-tex holds its crease when all about it are willing like flowers in the desert. Its hard surface sheds dust and dirt and requires a minimum of cleanings. The Tropi-tex sketched in tiny blue-grey pin check with faint window-pane over plaid in brighter blue. Only one of a super-smart collection in our Men's Shop.
